Jobless rate in decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a one-month increase, the nation's unemployment rate dropped from 8.6 to 8.3 per cent of the labor force in November, leaving the rate about where it was last summer, the government reported today.

The drop in the jobless rate equaled the increase in October and left the unemployment rate at the same level as it was in September. The government said 7.7 million persons were unemployed in both November and September.

Julius Shiskin, commissioner of labor statistics, discounted the fluctuation in the jobless rate over the past two months.

"While the employment situation in November shows substantial improvement over the levels of last spring, when recovery got underway, employment has been essentially flat for a month or two and unemployment has fluctuated within a narrow range for the past six months," he told the congressional Joint Economic Comittee.

The November decrease put the unemployment rate only one-tenth of a per cent below its level in July and August, when 7.8 million and 7.7 million persons respectively were unemployed. In September, 7.7 million persons were jobless.

Before the October rise, the unemployment rate had been down from its recession peak of 9.2 per cent last May. Administration economists attributed the October increase to "special factors" and had hoped the downward trend would be resumed in November.

Freeway shootout hospitalizes CHP officer, driver

LOS BANOS (AP) — A highway patrolman was shot three times by the driver of a stolen car, but managed to wound his assailant four times in a hail of gunfire south of here, Merced County sheriff's investigators said.

Officer Alford Turner, 35, halted the car 10 miles south of here on Interstate 5 Thursday night to warn the driver of a defective headlight, officers said.

As Turner stepped from his patrol car, the driver of the other vehicle leaped from his seat and opened fire as he ran towards the officer, investigators said.

Turner, hit twice in the shoulder and once in the abdomen, staggered back to his feet and returned the fire, hitting Harrill Hill, 23, of San Francisco, four times.

TOWN UNDER WATER

Heavy rain and a broken dike flooded lowlands in the Tillamook, Ore., area this week, causing heavy damage and displacing about 24 families. Water today was receding.

25 candidates file in valley

The valley's election season opened with a flurry of activities Thursday as 25 potential candidates took out nomination papers for municipal offices.

Eleven of those aspirants are in Ontario, where a lively campaign is expected for the March 2 elections.

Papers were also taken out for offices in Upland, La Verne, Claremont, San Dimas and Chino.

Pomona, a charter city, will not hold its municipal elections until 1977.

Ontario promises to be the scene of the liveliest elections in the valley. The 11 candidates include two city employes who will have to resign their posts if they are elected to the City Council, as well as former Ontario-Montclair schools Supt. Homer F. Briggs.

And in Claremont, City Councilman Frank Hungerford has decided to take out nomination papers for a two-year unexpired term, rather than a new four-year term in his present post. This encouraged Dick Newton, an appointee to the council, to seek a four-year term.

Hungerford said he could only see his way clear for the next two years to stay on the council because of "increasing business commitments."

In Chino, where only one aspirant has taken out papers so far, two others announced their candidacies. Mayor Bob McLeod said he was ready to proceed with his candidacy again. So was Pete Garcia, chairman of the Planning Commission, who announced for a council seat.

Walnut is the only city where no one has taken out nomination papers so far.

Of the 25 who reported to city clerks Thursday and this morning, 19 are seeking posts on city councils.

A city-by-city breakdown:

SAN DIMAS: (Two council vacancies) Terry Dipple, a college student, has taken out nomination papers.

LA VERNE: (Two council vacancies, plus mayor, city clerk and city treasurer) Mayor Mike M. Morales is seeking re-election, Robert C. Neher, a La Verne College professor, seeks a council seat, and City Clerk Ruth Hogan and City Treasurer Gerry Peck have taken out papers for reelection.

CLAREMONT: (Three council vacancies) Frank Hungerford, Dick Newton, and Eleanor Cohen, all incumbents.

MONTCLAIR: (Two council vacancies) Incumbents Paul Jones and Tom McClure, and challenger Javier O. Lopez.

UPLAND: (One council vacancy, plus mayor, city clerk and city treasurer) Mayor Abner Haldeman and City Clerk Doreen Carpenter, both incumbents.

CHINO: (One council vacancy, plus mayor) Russell Folds, a planning commissioner, seeks election to the council.

ONTARIO: (Three council vacancies, plus city clerk and city treasurer) Incumbents Marie Sharp and Gustavo Ramos; L. Harlan Lee, a purchasing manager, Roger A. Skogman, compensation analyst, Gordon L. Odom, program analyst, Homer F. Briggs, retired school superintendent, Michael L. Holmes, project management consultant, and John Hahn and Allen Kinnamar, city employes, all for council; and City Clerk DeLoris Arterburn, and City Treasurer Viola E. Antwiler, both seeking reelection.

Scott decides to end his political career

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After 33 years in Congress, Hugh Scott has decided to end his elective political career.

There was no fanfare, no exit in a blaze of glory, as the 75-year-old Philadelphia lawyer called it quits at a Pittsburgh dinner honoring another Pennsylvania Republican.

There was also no news conference, which he had often used with consummate skill to make his point during the 16 years he served in the House and the 17 more in the Senate where he has been Minority Leader since 1969. He has 13 months to go in his present term.

In a brief, written statement Thursday night he said he would not seek re-election next year, alluding to his already long service to his state and his country and to a desire to spend more time in rest and recreation.

Never once did Scott mention the current controversy raging around him, centering on charges he knew about illegal cash contributions to him from the Gulf Oil Corp. for almost two decades.

Scott has been generally silent since the Gulf story broke, but his office released a response on the subject. It said:

"I have never knowingly received any corporate funds from anybody, anytime. I am not going to have any further statement."

Scott did not discuss the Gulf case with reporters Thursday, but he alluded to it in remarks at the dinner: "Anyone who lays a hand on me, let them beware. The courts are for that purpose."

Although Scott did not amplify on that statement, sources said he indicated to a closed meeting of Republican leaders that he would consider libel action should he continue to be accused of wrongdoing.

The Watergate special prosecutor's office is investigating the allegations that Scott received $10,000 a year in cash from Gulf, along with other Gulf money matters.

Special legislative session on medical malpractice urged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council is unanimous in urging Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the medical malpractice problem.

By a 10-0 vote Thursday the council approved the motion introduced by Councilwoman Peggy Stevenson.

The council also asked doctors to reconsider their work slowdown and give the Legislature time to come up with a solution.

President says no area more important to U.S. than Asia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Declaring that the United States regards itself as a Pacific nation, President Ford said today "we are firmly committed to peace and security in Southeast Asia and throughout Asia."

Speaking at a state banquet given by Indonesian President Suharto in glittering Freedom Palace, Ford said, "We see our own prosperity and progress linked with the vast populations, the dynamic economies, the abundant resources and the rich cultures of this great region.

"No area of the world is more important to us than Asia."

A high-spirited crowd estimated by police at 100,000 — waving American and Indonesian flags — lined the road from Jakarta airport into town to welcome Ford on arrival from Peking. It was in sharp contrast to the almost total absence of interested spectators in the Chinese capital.

En route to Jakarta a senior American official aboard Air force One told newsmen the most important benefits derived from the Peking summit were the triangular aspects of diplomacy — the balancing off of China, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The official, who declined to be identified, sketched in broad strokes what diplomats call the "wide-ranging" impact of U.S.China policy. It is based on "parallelism" and seeks to establish the points on which both sides see eye to eye, especially in discouraging Soviet expansionism.

The American president, on his first official visit to this teeming and oil-rich archipelago, noted in his banquet speech that there have been dramatic changes in the world, with all but the vestiges of colonial empires gone and cold war divisions broken down.

"In this complex time of change, America, as always, looks to its relationships with friends," he said. "Indonesia is such a friend. Indonesia exemplifies strength, and self-reliance, as well as international leadership and responsibility. We respect your nonalignment and your goal of national resiliency. We admire your contribution to regional peace. We value your friendship."

He said the United States has a continuing interest in Indonesian security and well-being, as well as "a common concern for the right of every nation to pursue its destiny on its own independent and sovereign course."

CIM plans 'shootout' to frighten off geese

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

California Institution for Men dairy employes have decided to use blank shotgun shells and pyrotechnics to scare flocks of geese away from grain fields in Chino.

"Last year," according to Marvin Ryer, assistant to the superintendent of CIM, "the geese caused the dairy farm program to lose $20,000 to $25,000 in grain crops and threaten to cause more losses this year, necessitating the use of federally approved methods of frightening off the birds."

A number of residents in the Los Serranos area expressed some fear that the large white and grey birds that yearly fly in from the Great Salt Lake and Montana could be endangered by the use of firecrackers and blank shotgun shells, but federal and state wildlife management officials said the birds would not be harmed.

Gene Wilson, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Bell, said fish and game managers have been reporting large increases in the Canadian geese population arriving in the area since the late 1960s.

He said that the bird population has grown from a flock of 200 to 1,000 in 1970 to over 5,000 this year. "We don't know why they are increasing in the area, except they are finding the feed more plentiful than their normal feeding ground at the Salton Sea."

Wilson said the grain losses were significant enough last year to call a special meeting with CIM officials, and the state Fish and Game Department officers to determine methods of control.

Wilson said at the meeting, CIM dairymen were told that the means of controlling the birds normally comes by hunting pressure, but hunting the birds is prohibited in most areas of Los Serranos and on the prison grounds.

Wilson said that the federal government issues permits to use pyrotechnics such as M-80 firecrackers, skyrockets, and "cracker" shotgun shells in the area where crop damage caused by the birds is high. He said he personally delivered some of the cracker shells and pyrotechnics to the prison recently, but did not know that the prison employes had begun using them.

Ryer said that the grain, being lost to the birds, is used to feed CIM dairy cattle with the surplus being sold to local dairymen for use in feeding their cattle. The dairy farm provides milk and some meat to the CIM kitchens.

Ryer said this year much of the grain south of the prison, never harvested before, was being harvested this year to offset budget cuts in the dairy program. Much of the grain in the area was cut several weeks ago.

Wilson said the local problem, while seemingly serious, is not as great as in the Imperial and Coachella Valleys where many thousands of the birds have set down to rest and feed for the winter.

Wilson said that if the birds are frightened off by the cracker shells and pyrotechnics they would most likely fly to the Lake Perris area where new canals and new grain fields offer feed and water. "A flight to Lake Perris or the Salton Sea for one of these birds is nothing. They fly thousands of miles yearly in their normal migrations."

$453,000 found in cash box of slain San Diego woman

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Slain San Diego businesswoman Tamara Rand had more than $453,000 in crisp new bills stashed in a safety deposit box, says a federal organized crime investigator.

He told the San Diego Union that her attorney, Henry Glasser of San Francisco, and a member of the San Diego County treasurer's office were present when the box was opened Nov. 17 at the San Diego Trust & Savings Bank.

The investigator, who asked not to be named, said Mrs. Rand and her international business dealings were being watched by the federal government's organized crime strike force.

"We had an inkling there was a lot of money in Mrs. Rand's safe-deposit box," he said. "We just didn't know how much."

Glasser, who is Mrs. Rand's cousin, also is co-tenant of that box. He could not be reached for comment as to whether he knew of its contents before it was opened.

Mrs. Rand was found dead in her Mission Hills home Nov. 9, shot five times in gangland fashion.

Also, a sealed wooden crate was found Monday in a vault rented by Mrs. Rand at Security Vault and Locker Rentals in San Diego. But the crate, described as very heavy, will not be opened until after probate hearings begin in two weeks.

Meanwhile, a second federal official who asked that neither he nor his agency be named said that Mrs. Rand loaned $500,000 to San Diego attorney Allen R. Glick for 5 per cent interest in Glick's Argent Corp.

Glick, now one of the major hotel owners along the Las Vegas strip, called a news conference last month denying any connection with the Rand murder or that she was ever offered a share in Argent.

But the official, quoted by the Union, said that Glick borrowed the money from Mrs. Rand and repaid it with interest.

The organized crime strike force, The Securities and Exchange Commission and the Nevada Gaming Control Board all are reported investigating Glick, who has bought into several Las Vegas hotels and casinos with $110 million borrowed from the Teamsters Union Central States Pension Fund.

BUSINESS BUDDIES

Sonny and Cher are together again but they say its strictly business. The couple, divorced in June, will star in a show to replace Cher's present TV series in February. "After we finish work every day, we'll go our separate ways," said Sonny Bono at a news conference Thursday. Their hit show ran for three seasons but was canceled in 1974 when they broke up.

Southland girls held in Tijuana kidnaping; wanted to play mom

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Three teenaged girls who wanted to "play mother" were in custody after a 2-year-old Mexican girl was taken from her home in Tijuana.

The baby, Anna Luisa Alaya, was returned to her parents Thursday in a tearful reunion. The three girls, all aged 17, were being held by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

A sheriff's spokesman said the girls drove to Tijuana Tuesday to adopt a baby, only to be rejected by the orphanage there because they were minors.

They then spotted little Anna playing near her home in the Colina Libertad district and then allegedly abducted her and drove her 150 miles to Valencia, north of Los Angeles, the spokesman said.

What followed was described by deputies as a bizarre child's game, with the kidnaped infant used as a live doll.

"They found their 'doll' and they took her back to Valencia with them so they could play mother," said the spokesman.

Sheriff's Lt. Ricardo Cezon said the girls wearied of the game Wednesday and notified deputies the child had been abandoned near the home of one of the teen-agers. Officers found the baby unharmed and decided to hold the girls after questioning them.

A sheriff's plane flew the infant to San Diego, where she was rejoined with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mejia Perez, the parents.

Owner loses 1,000 beehives to poisoner

San Bernardino County and Riverside County sheriff's detectives are investigating the cyanide poisoning of nearly 1,000 beehives in two states, the last group in the Etiwanda-Cucamonga area since Oct. 3.

The beehive poisonings were first reported in Loops City, Neb., Oct. 3 by Harold Knoefler, owner of Knoefler Honey Farms of Fontana, when he discovered 270 of his hives destroyed by cyanide crystals. On Oct. 6, Knoefler discovered that another 118 hives he owned in Nebraska had been similarly destroyed and a large storage bin of honey tipped over.

Then on Nov. 23 Knoefler learned that 83 of his beehives off Etiwanda Avenue, north of Highland Drive in Etiwanda, and 90 others at Wilson and Hermosa Avenue in Cucamonga were destroyed. The same day he found 200 more hives destroyed in the Glen Avon area.

This last weekend Knoefler, who reports his losses now total more than $80,000, found 200 more hives destroyed by cyanide near Lake Matthews.

Detectives from Fontana sheriff's substation, who are working with Riverside deputies and Nebraska police on the case, said all the hives destroyed have been owned by Knoefler.

Detectives believe the bees are being killed by either an exemploye of the Knoefler Honey Farms, or by competitors, but thus far they have no leads. Deputies said the bees are being killed in the same manner, by culprits who place several teaspoons of cyanide crystals, that react in air and moisture, into each of the hives. In a short period of time the bees die of the deadly cyanide gas.

Cyanide crystals, usually stored in air-tight containers, can be fatal to humans if ingested or absorbed through the skin or respiratory system.

Limited lawyer ads supported

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Limited advertising by lawyers would be allowed under a proposal given tentative approval by the State Bar board of governors.

The proposal approved Thursday would permit lawyers and law firms to advertise in telephone directory yellow pages and in law lists or legal directories but not in other media.

The 18-month test program will go into effect next July 1 if it wins final approval from the State Bar and the state Supreme Court.

Woman guilty in L.A. check case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 44-year-old woman motel operator has been convicted on 12 felony counts stemming from a scheme to steal and cash $3.5 million in Los Angeles municipal treasury checks.

Authorities believe at least one person still working in city government helped in the thefts, and Judge E. Talbot Callister said Thursday that Joyce Lewis' sentence will be lighter if she names that person or persons.

"At the time of sentencing in this matter, it would appear that the degree of cooperation that the defendant exhibits in revealing the identity of those persons would be a most material factor," Callister said.

Two other men have pleaded guilty in the case and been sentenced to prison. One of them, Bernard Howard, 52, an accountant from Yonkers, N.Y., has told authorities the checks were stolen by "an employe inside the city government who has worked there for 16 or 17 years."

High school bands to vie at college

Nine high schools will send bands and drill teams to the Tournament of Champions on Saturday at Chaffey College.

Winner in the competition will be named the top marching band in the Southland for 1975, according to program Chairman Jack M. Mason of the college's Instrumental Music Department.

Competing bands are Loara and Western High Schools in Anaheim; Los Altos High School in Hacienda Heights; Glendora, Vista, West Covina, Arcadia and Orange high schools; and Grossmont High School in La Mesa.

The bands will begin the day with a parade on the campus and then present typical half-time shows in the college stadium from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event will conclude with the awarding of trophies.

The public is invited to the stadium show. Tickets, at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12, are available at the gate.

One valley doctor on high Medi-Cal fee list

Dr. Benjamin Vines, 265 W. Bonita Ave., Claremont, received $106,352 for treating Medi-Cal patients in 1974, according to information released this week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C.

The names of 207 doctors who received $100,000 or more plus 28 physicians who received more than $200,000 and four of those taking in more than $300,000 in Medicaid funds were announced by HEW.

Dr. Vines is the only valley physician listed by HEW although a number of other California physicians were named.

An HEW official said the report in no way connotes any wrongdoing, but added that states are being asked to examine the claims to make certain they are valid.

Medicaid is the federal-state program that provides subsidized health services to welfare recipients and other low-income persons. In California, the program is called Medi-Cal.

This list is the federal government's first public identification of all doctors whose gross annual Medicaid reimbursements totaled at least $100,000 and was done under a request of the Freedom of Information Act.

The list of 207 physicians represents less that 0.2 per cent of the 99,117 physicians reimbursed last year for Medicaid practice.

Moluccan nationalists still holding hostages

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccans occupying the Indonesian consulate pushed a blindfolded youngster out on a balcony today in a show of defiance. The boy was among more than 60 hostages held by Moluccan nationalists at the consulate and in a tram in northern Holland.

The gunmen are demanding Dutch support for their independence claims for the South Molucca islands in Indonesia, once a Dutch colony.

The boy, apparently about 12, stood with bare arms folded in the chilly air. An official said that a weapon was visible for a few moments aimed at the child.

After the boy was produced police said they told the gunmen: "If you are doing this, we can't go on talking."

The demonstration followed a telephone exchange between police and the six South Moluccans who seized the consulate Thursday and were holding an estimated 30 hostages, including 11 children. More than 150 police and sharpshooters surrounded the building.

In Beilen, 90 miles to the north, ambulances drove up to the hijacked train, standing in an open field, to pick up the bodies of three hostages shot down by the their South Moluccan captors.

The engineer and another man were killed when the Moluccans seized the train Tuesday. A third hostage was executed and his body thrown out Thursday.

Six hundred troops and 45 armored cars reinforced police and troops surrounding the four-coach local train in which the five hijackers held 38 hostages.

There was no possibility the Dutch government would endanger its good political and commercial relations with Indonesia by agreeing to the political demands of the terrorists, and the Indonesian government is certain to continue to reject all demands for South Moluccan independence as it has all other secessionist attempts in its far-flung archipelago.

The terrorists are exiles or sons of exiles from the South Molucca islands in the Indonesian archipelago. The South Moluccas were part of the prewar Dutch East Indies and became part of Indonesia when the Dutch gave their vast island colony independence in 1949. Thousands of the islanders fled to Holland when the Jakarta government took over after an unsuccessful rebellion in 1950, and there are now about 40,000 South Moluccans in the country.

CHILDREN RELEASED

Five children with their hands up leave the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam Thursday after their release by a group of Moluccan terrorists who have seized the building. The terrorists, also holding a train near Beilen, are demanding independence for South Molucca.

Informant fingers trio

Hoffa killers named?

DETROIT (AP) — A mysterious informant has fingered three New Jersey Teamsters, two with alleged Mafia ties, as responsible for the abduction-murder of James R. Hoffa, the ex-union boss who vanished July 30.

Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Paramus, N.J., his brother, Gabriel of East Rutherford, and Thomas Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights, were named by the informant and have been ordered to appear in a police lineup on Saturday before a second unidentified witness, who has told the government he saw Hoffa abducted.

The unidentified witness who will view the police lineup says he does not know the names of those who committed the crime but would recognize them if he saw them again, the government said.

Newsday today quoted police and federal sources as saying Hoffa's elimination was approved by the highest echelons of organized crime. In a copyright story, the Long Island, N.Y., newspaper said Hoffa was lured into what he thought was a peace-making meeting with Mafia figures and that seven persons participated in his abduction-murder.

Newsday quoted the sources as saying FBI agents were searching a New Jersey dump for the body of Hoffa and one of his assassins.

The newspaper said the unidentified assassin apparently helped transfer Hoffa's body from a barrel to a van and drove it from Michigan to New Jersey sometime after July 30. The man was killed because he was considered a "weak link," Newsday said.

Warrants issued Tuesday in Newark, N.J., gave authorities approval to dig in Brother Moscato's Dump, a four-acre tract of land under the Pulaski Skyway in Jersey City, but the warrants did not list Hoffa's name.

Authorities in New Jersey say Salvatore Briguglio and Andretta have ties to the Mafia family of the late Vito Genovese.

Ford says he'll keep promise; will veto the tax cuts if...

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is likely to keep up the heat of his veto threat when the Senate next week begins scrutiny of the House-passed bill carrying $13 billion in personal tax cuts for 1976.

Ford's 2-month-old demand that any tax cut be tied to a lid on government spending was repeated Thursday when the President, in Peking, phoned House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes shortly before the final House vote on the tax bill.

Rhodes later told reporters that Ford repeated his vow that "he positively would veto this bill if it did not have a ceiling" on federal spending linked to it.

After getting this word from Rhodes, the House narrowly rejected such a link-up in the form of Ford's proposed $395-billion lid on federal spending for fiscal 1977, the year starting next Oct. 1.

The vote of 220 to 202 against a spending lid found 218 Democrats and two Republicans overpowering 139 Republicans and 63 Democrats.

The tax cut then was approved 257 to 168, with 225 Democrats and 32 Republicans for the bill, 111 Republicans and 57 Democrats opposed.

In the Senate, there are signs the bill might be split apart for fast consideration of the tax-cut features, leaving until next year the more controversial and time-consuming tax revisions approved by the House.

Parking lot robberies held at two valley restaurants

A Claremont couple were robbed Thursday night by a man armed with a sawed off rifle in the parking lot of the Magic Lamp Restaurant, 8189 Foothill Blvd. in Cucamonga, West End sheriff's deputies reported.

Howard Mason and his wife Marilyn told sheriff's deputies that he had just walked out of the restaurant about 8:45 p.m. when they were confronted by a masked man holding a sawed off .22 caliber rifle. The couple said the gunman ordered them to throw their valuables on the ground and stand back.

The gunman picked up a wallet and purse and fled on foot to a waiting car driven by a second person. The Masons said a small amount of cash, numerous credit cards and keys were taken.

The gunman was described as a Caucasian, 25 to 30, 6 feet 2, 220 pounds, with dark brown medium length hair. He was wearing a black mask over his eyes and nose, a blue denim button type shirt, and dark trousers. The couple could not describe the second person in the older model light tan colored getaway car.

Two women were knocked down and robbed of their purses Wednesday night on the parking lot of Orlando's restaurant at 1700 W. Holt Ave., POMONA, police said.

Hazel A. Swayze, 56, and Betty Lou Smith, 56, both of Pomona, said the man ran up behind them and grabbed both purses. Mrs. Swayze was knocked down trying to hold onto her purse and Mrs. Smith was dragged three feet across the pavement trying to hold hers. She suffered forehead and nose injuries.

The man, who escaped with both purses, was described as a Negro in his 20s, 6 feet, weighing 200 pounds. He had a medium-length afro hairdo and was neatly dressed in dark clothing.

The victims said he held a revolver in one hand while robbing them.

Burglars broke into the remote Day Canyon Ranger Station three miles above Chaffey College in ALTA LOMA Thursday taking more than $4,000 in batteries, fire tools, first aid equipment, a television, and other equipment, according to West End sheriff's deputies.

The burglary was discovered by Bill Mason, supervising ranger, Thursday afternoon when he went to check on the seven man camp. The small remote ranger station consisting of three buildings closed for the season on Wednesday. Burglars used some of the fire implements to gain entrance to the crew quarters, storage room, and generator room, deputies said.

Deputies reported that the burglars, who would have had to use a station wagon or truck to haul the stolen goods away, methodically stripped the station of all its equipment, with the exception of the generators.

Seventeen-year-old Richard Sinnott, charged with murdering Cal Poly professor William C. Warner Oct. 20 in the teacher's DIAMOND BAR apartment, faces a Juvenile Court hearing Jan. 11 to determine if he can be tried as an adult.

The hearing is scheduled in Eastlake Juvenile Court, Los Angeles, where a formal petition has been filed charging Sinnett with murder and robbery. If the judge decides the youth must be prosecuted as a juvenile, the trial will be held Jan. 15.

Sinnott recently was returned to California by Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies from Phoenix, Ariz. He lives in nearby Tempe. After his arrest at home by Maricopa County (Ariz.) sheriff's deputies, the youth said he intended to fight extradition to California, but later changed his mind. Such a legal fight could have lasted several months, authorities said.

The youth is accused of robbing and beating to death the 53-year-old associate professor of urban planning in the apartment at 1266 Diamond Bar Blvd. The victim was found dead there after he failed to arrive for work the Monday following the weekend he was killed.

Sheriff's investigators said the suspect was in California because he was employed by an Arizona firm as a driver. They charged that he and the victim met in a bar, went to Warner's apartment and the professor was struck on the head during a robbery.

Sam Jones, 36, accused of taking part in the slaying of an ONTARIO drug counselor in the course of a robbery Nov. 25 at 116 E. Sunkist St. has been arraigned on first degree murder charges in West Valley Municipal Court.

Jones, of 207 E. Maitland Ave., Ontario, a suspect in the slaying of Raymond Meras, 36, of the Sunkist Street address, was arraigned Wednesday on the charge while a second suspect, Francis Marion Anthony, 36, of 207 E. Nevada St., remained hospitalized today in San Bernardino County Hospital. Anthony suffered a seizure in West End jail last week and has been hospitalized since. Jones will face preliminary hearing Dec. 11.

A coroner's autopsy on Meras revealed that the former Chicano House drug counselor had been severely beaten, stabbed with wooden sticks, and shot once through the head with a small caliber handgun, police said.

The wound found in Meras' head was first believed to have been inflicted by a screwdriver, or some other hard-sharp instrument. Police said during the autopsy a .22 caliber bullet was found lodged in Meras' lower chin.

Police believe that Meras was beaten, robbed and shot by the suspects after flashing several hundred dollars from his wallet. Police said that several days before his death, Meras had cashed a $300 city payroll check. Meras at the time of his death was working at the Aztlan Aftercare Center. Prior to his employment there he was a drug counselor at the Chicano House mini-city hall that has since been closed by the city following a series of drug arrests in the vicinity.

Navy looks for answer

CORONADO (AP) — While the world's shippers are busily converting to containerized cargo, the Navy is trying to find an easy way to cope with it.

The Navy is experimenting with a portable pier developed by Navy construction battalions at its amphibious training base in Coronado.

The pier is created by linking seven steel barges, each 90 feet long and weighing 62 tons. The entire structure would be lifted out of the surf by hydraulic jacks, a Navy spokesman said.

Such a structure should enable trucks to move the trailersized aluminum containers from ships close to shore to troops fighting inland, the spokesman said.

Green angels on Mexico roads

MEXICO CITY (AP) — As a green angel, Leoplodo Orduna has faced pistol-packing drug runners and pulled corpses from burning vehicles.

On less dramatic days he fixes flats, adjusts carburetors or pulls a car from a ditch.

He wears a green uniform and drives a green pickup truck on Mexican highways looking for motorists in trouble.

After attending to their needs, he gives them a window sticker from the Mexican Tourism Ministry with a cartoon of an angel and the caption, "I was blessed by a green angel."

Orduna is a member of a 620-man tourist aid patrol of 155 vehicles which criss-cross Mexico from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. It's a 15-year-old service which the Mexican government believes is unique in the world.

"There are other highway-aid services—in Italy, West Germany, France—but they are privately operated by automobile companies. Ours is the only one run by the government and absolutely free," says Jose Armando Garcia Triana, director general of the patrol.

Two men are assigned to each truck. They are trained mechanics and have been instructed in basic tourist and road information. The trucks carry spare parts, gasoline, tools, water and hot coffee.

Some drivers, at their own expense, have added ice chests with cold drinks for tourists found in desert regions.

Orduna saw a car plunge over an overpass to the highway below and burst into flames last month.

He pulled one man from the wreckage. Orduna was halfway up the embankment when he realized the man in his arms had died.

Someone shouted, "There's another one in the car," and Orduna rushed back down the hill.

"I couldn't get the doors open so I reached through the flames and pulled a man through a window. He was dead," Orduna said.

Each truck has a two-way radio. A central radio station in the tourism ministry building in downtown Mexico City is connected with stations at key positions, making it possible to relay a message across Mexico.

"One night I received a telephone call from a young man in the United States," Garcia Triana said. "He was crying and said his wife had just died. Her parents were in Mexico and he wanted us to locate them.

"We sent a description of their vehicle and trailer house to the Veracruz region where they were believed to be traveling. It took just seven minutes to locate them. Forty-five minutes after he had called us, the man was in contact with his relatives."

Singer sued for divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Dionne Warwick's husband has been granted a divorce and is seeking $5,000 a month in support payments.

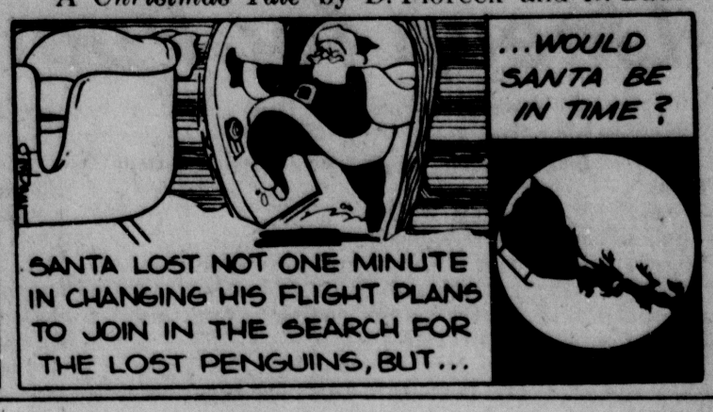

Bill Elliott, 41, a drummer and actor, filed the suit in Superior Court on June 3. Judge Leopoldo Sanchez granted the decree Wednesday.

The community property trial is expected to be held next year.

Industrial nation jobless rate highest in 40 years

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Unemployment in 23 industrialized countries soared to an estimated 17.1 million persons in September, the highest level in 40 years, the International Labor Organization said recently.

It said if present trends continue the combined total of jobless in the United States, Canada, Japan, Australia, New Zealand and 18 West European countries will be 18.5 million by the end of the year.

The estimates compare with more than 25 million jobless in the same 23 countries during the depression years 1932-1934 when in some cases the unemployment rate was between 20 and 35 per cent of the labor force.

Last September the combined rate was 5.2 per cent, after unemployment rose by nearly 6 million during the preceding 12 months, also the highest annual increase in 40 years, the ILO said.

Can't afford smogless engine, Ford tells JPL

PASADENA (AP) — Ford Motor Co. says it can't afford to undertake a massive program to develop a new smogless engine as recommended in a study by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

A Ford spokesman agreed that the new type of engine may hold great promise for cutting pollution and increasing gas mileage.

"But our first priority is to stay in business," said Wayne Brehop of Ford's environmental and safety engineering division. "I doubt any car maker can make the leap of faith to a continuous combustion engine at this point."

Brehop, speaking at a conference on air pollution at California Institute of Technology that ended Wednesday, gave Ford's first public comment on the JPL report, which was commissioned by Ford at a cost of $500,000. The report was released in August.

JPL engineers, after studying a variety of engine types, recommended an accelerated development program for the Brayton and Stirling engines. Unlike the conventional internal combustion engine, the alternate engine types work on continuous combustion principles that JPL said could reduce national automotive fuel consumption by one-third while sharply cutting pollution.

Brehop said a rush development program—JPL had said the engine could be ready by 1985—would cost some $800 million to $1.2 billion. "And that doesn't count about $500 million for retooling."

He said Ford engineers, furthermore, had serious questions about the advanced technology that JPL had conceded would be necessary to bring the new engines into production.

The other major auto makers have yet to comment on the JPL report; nor has the federal government, which Brehop indicated might be the only source of funding that could support such a development effort.

Trucking couples win boss's raves

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard and Joyce Karlen are one of the couples who "keep on truckin'" together, much to the delight of officials of Bekins Van Lines, a major national moving firm.

Lee Walters, president of the moving company, said he was quite opposed when the idea was first broached to allow wives to join their husbands as independent contractors for Bekins.

"I was completely against it at first, but now I'm actively recruiting couples because of the favorable customer response," he said.

Six years ago, Bekins had no man-and-wife teams. The company has 34 couples now, in a total of 500 independent contractors, and Walters hopes to raise the number of couples to 100 by next summer and 200 by the end of 1977.

Waters said independents are guaranteed a gross of $36,000 a year, or $46,000 with a helper, plus they have the added attraction of a tax write-off of $18 for each day they are on the road.

The Karlens are typical of the couples who own their truck tractors and work under contact for Bekins, which supplies the trailer.

Fearing a possible layoff from his job as an air freight forwarder, Karlen and his wife bought a truck-tractor, which cost between $25,000 and $30,000 each, five years ago. Since then, they have logged about 80,000 miles of load hauling all over the country.

"The idea scared me to death at first but after shopping around for a truck and looking into the moving business, the idea grew on me," Mrs. Karlen recalled.

Though Karlen has to do all the driving because Mrs. Karlen doesn't expect to get her commercial license until next year, most independent contractor couples share this chore.

But, generally, it is the woman who assumes the task of customer relations and paperwork and Waters knows why.

"When a family makes a move, it's usually the wife who sweats it out — the husband often leaves in advance to go to the new house. So there she is, alone, when a couple of hairy gorillas come to the door to move her furniture.

"But if a mover shows up with his uniformed wife, she can nursemaid the woman, telling her that moving to New York isn't that bad, or that North Carolina is a beautiful place to live."

Walters said another advantage in hiring independent contractor-couples is: "They don't get 'lost' in Las Vegas or Juarez."

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
T.S. No. 17662-1

WESTWOOD ASSOCIATES as duly appointed Trustee under the following described deed of trust will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property hereinafter described:

TRUSTOR: ROY E. ANDREWS, a married man, BENEFICIARY: WEYERHAEUSER MORTGAGE COMPANY, a California corporation. Recorded June 13, 1974 as instr. No. 122 in book T8869 page 155 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of Los Angeles County; said deed of trust describes the following property:

Lot 30 of Tract No. 26264, in the City of Pomona, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in book 816 Pages 21 to 27 inclusive of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

1210 Redwood View Drive, Pomona, CA.

"(If a street address or common designation is shown above, no warranty is given as to its completeness or correctness)."

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust, by reason of a breach or default in the obligations secured thereby, heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and written notice of breach and of election to cause the undersigned to sell said property to satisfy said obligations, and thereafter the undersigned caused said notice of breach and of election to be Recorded August 26, 1975 as instr. No. 4026 in book M5101 page 68 of said Official Records.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest as in said note provided, advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

Said sale will be held on Thursday, January 8, 1976, at 11:00 AM, at the front entrance to the Los Angeles County Courts Building, 12720 Norwalk Blvd., Norwalk, CA.

Date: November 28, 1975.

Laotions elect new president

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The Laotian People's Congress Thursday elected Prince Souphanouvong, the titular chief of the Communist Pathet Lao movement, to be president of the new People's Democratic Republic of Laos, and Communist party chief Kaysone Phomvihan to head the new government as premier, Vientiane Radio announced.

King Savang Vathana, whose abdication was announced Wednesday, was named "supreme adviser" to the president, while Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier for the past 13 years, was appointed "adviser to the government."

Souvanna Phouma, a 74-yearold neutralist, and Souphanouvong, the 63-year-old "Red prince," are half brothers and cousins of the dethroned 68year-old king.

Kaysone, a 55-year-old revolutionary with strong ties with North Vietnam, is chairman of the Lao People's Revolutionary party. Its formation was announced in October by the Pathet Lao.

The president presumably will be a figurehead, a status many Western experts believe Souphanouvong has had in the Pathet Lao for years. The power apparently will be exercised by the premier.

In Washington, State Department spokesman John Trattner said the changes "confirm the Pathet Lao's domination of the government ... I wouldn't say it comes as a surprise."

Trattner said the United States will maintain diplomatic relations with Laos, the only one of the Indochinese countries where it still has a diplomatic mission.

Vientiane broadcasts on Wednesday announced the creation of the People's Republic, ending the 600-year-old monarchy and the 19-month-old coalition of conservatives, neutralists and Communists which Souvanna Phouma headed. But the Communists took control of the government last spring, driving all leading conservatives into exile, and the premier since then had been powerless.

The broadcast today said Khamtay Siphandon was named deputy premier supreme commander of the Lao liberation armed forces and defense minister.

Phoune Sipraseuth was named foreign minister and deputy premier, and Phoumi Vongvichit remained as deputy premier but with the added post of minister of education, sports and religious affairs.

Sisana Sisam, representing the People's Congress, urged Thailand, Laos' pro-Western neighbor, and the United States to "fully and sincerely respect the basic rights of Laos" and halt violations of its sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity.

Fazio wins close race

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Vic Fazio, a young Democrat given an 11th-hour boost by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., has slipped into an Assembly seat by the narrow margin of 309 votes.

The 33-year-old Fazio, who was an aide to Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, defeated Republican Mike Abernathy, 24,909 to 24,600 in Tuesday's 4th District runoff to serve the final year of the late Edwin Z'berg's term.

Z'berg, a Sacramento Democrat who had served 16 years in the Assembly died Aug. 26.

Fazio, who faces another campaign — although as the incumbent — in the June 8 primary election, said after the ballots were counted that the Democratic governor had not put his political clout on the line for him, that it was a race between the two candidates.

He added, however, "I'm certainly very grateful he came."

Valley hospitals still taking Medi-Cal cases

Hospitals in the valley are continuing to accept Medi-Cal patients although many Southland hospitals are refusing these patients, according to a local spokesman.

Robert Burwell, administrator at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, said that staff physicians determine who will be admitted to a hospital.

"At this time, the physicians are admitting all Medi-Cal patients," Burwell said. "In addition, Medi-Cal patients who have surgeries already scheduled in December will be taken care of at the hospital."

However, as of Jan. 1, PVCH anesthesiologists have announced they will participate in no more Medi-Cal surgeries because of the low rate of reimbursement from the state for care of these patients.

Park Avenue Hospital, Doctors Hospital at Montclair and Chino General Hospital spokesmen said that, to date, they are continuing care of Medi-Cal patients.

The crisis has occurred throughout the state because of threatened increases of up to 486 per cent in the rates for medical malpractice insurance premiums.

If the Southern California Physicians Council (SOCAP) is able to establish its own professsional liability insurance plan by Jan. 1, the projected insurance premiums would be a great deal less, according to SOCAP President Dr. Philip F. Voigt.

Realtors aid Santa

Santa is getting a helping hand this Christmas from the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors.

Realtors have set up barrels for "toys for tots" at various real estate offices and they will donate proceeds from a multiple listing breakfast Dec. 17 to Santa Claus, Inc.

Toys collected in the barrels will be given to the U. S. Marine Corps for distribution. To start the toy drive, board officials spent $88 for toys. The money had been earned at a booth set up at a Pomona Bicentennial fiesta.

The board's multiple listing service recently voted to donate proceeds from its annual breakfast to Santa Claus, Inc. The breakfast, scheduled for Cal Poly's Kellogg West, is expected to raise $150.

Realtors are also asked to check their homes for toys which can be donated to Santa Claus, Inc.

Public meeting Sunday

Crime patrol seeking relief help at center

Pomona Base of C-CAP (California Community Alert Patrol) will hold a public meeting Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Education Center auditorium, 800 S. Garey Ave.

Base commander Larry States said the first item of business will be an appeal for volunteers to staff the base communications center which is being set up in Suite 316 in the Progress Bulletin building at 300 S. Thomas St.

States said radio equipment has been installed in the center and is in operation.

Telephones have been connected. The numbers are 622-3233 and 623-2554.

C-CAP officers, all volunteers who have fulltime jobs, are spending their off time in the center, but help is needed for daytime hours and to relieve officers at night.

"We will pass a clipboard sheet at the meeting Sunday asking people with time to help us out to sign up," said States.

An appeal also will be made Sunday for funds to pay costs of telephone service in the communications center and to pay costs of printing. This will be the first time the base has asked for money.

The PB has supplied office space for the communications center rent free. Office furniture has been donated.

Officers will review with the public results of C-CAP's volunteer program to provide communications for the Pomona Christmas parade Saturday night.

States said that some 25 neighborhood groups have been established in Pomona and alert citizens are conducting their block-to-block watches in an effort to reduce crime in Pomona.

"We're moving along, rather slowly, but it is better to go slow and be sure," said States. "I'm really happy with the progress we're making."

Residents wishing to obtain C-CAP membership applications may write Pomona Base C-CAP, P.O. Box 1943, Pomona 91769.

C-CAP people are volunteers. They do not make arrests and are not armed.

They serve as the eyes and ears of law enforcement. Their motto is "We are our brother's keeper."

C-CAP was formed in Los Angeles by Ganzia Washington following the Watts riots. It now is national, with bases across the country.

How's your heart? health test offered

Valley parents and their children over 14 are invited to participate in a unique community health heart screening program conducted on Tuesday evenings.

The coronary risk screening program is the work of Dr. Paul A. Frederick of Pomona along with a group of nurses, technicians and lay volunteers.

Dr. Frederick said that, to his knowledge, this is the only program of its type in the country staffed entirely by volunteers.

The program is designed to indicate to each participant his level of risk in developing coronary heart disease. It is a cooperative effort between the East San Gabriel Valley Division of the American Heart Association and the Pomona District of the Los Angeles Department of Health Services.

Each participant will have a short history taken, his height and weight measured, and his blood pressure recorded. Using an electrocardiograph computer, a test is run and a blood specimen taken. Diet and nutrition education and counseling is provided under the direction of a registered dietician.

While screening results are confidential, if the participant is considered a high risk, he is encouraged to contact his physician.

Before measures can be taken to prevent the development of coronary artery disease, the individuals who face a risk must be identified, Dr. Frederick said.

"Recent evidence suggests that coronary risk factors can be identified in the very young and that early detection is important and should be recognized as a pediatric problem," added the Pomona physician.

The chance of heart attack is increased with high blood pressure, also with smoking, overweight and sedentary living.

Participation in the screening is by appointment only. Persons interested may call the local Heart Association office, (213) 965-5168, for appointments.

William Parsonage, former jeweler, dies

William R. Parsonage of Pomona, for many years a widely known Pomona businessman and civic leader, died in Pomona Valley Community Hospital at 5:20 a.m. today after a long illness.

From 1935 to the early 1960s he and his wife, Eunice, who survives him, owned and operated the Parsonage jewelry store in the downtown district. He had been retired for nearly 15 years.

Mr. Parsonage was born in Minneapolis, Minn. on Feb. 13, 1908. He came to California in 1928 from Dayton, Ohio and established a jewelry store in Santa Monica before coming to Pomona.

During World War II Mr. Parsonage was executive secretary of the Pomona War Price and Rationing Board and afterwards he was chief of block wardens for the Pomona Disaster Council

He was a past president of Pomona Host Lions Club, a former member of the Pomona Elks Lodge, a past commander of Pomona Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, a member of Pilgrim Congregational Church, and a former member of Compass Masonic Lodge. He had served as a director of Pomona Chamber of Commerce.

Besides his widow, Eunice, a well-known Pomona club woman, Mr. Parsonage leaves a daughter, Mrs. Bettie J. Wise of El Segundo; three grandchildren, a nephew, Edward E. Parsonage of Pomona. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona.

Santa shop to open Dec. 17; orders for needy taken now

Santa Claus will open his Pomona workshop Dec. 17 and 18 to provide toys for some 1,000 local children.

On his shelves will be bikes, trikes, wagons, dolls, stuffed animals, puzzles, books and games.

These are offered free to families with low incomes and those on welfare or unemployed. To qualify, parents must make application to the Salvation Army by Dec. 12.

Some 68 families have been processed to date. The Salvation Army office is open each week day from 9:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Those who qualify will be given referral slips needed for the parents to enter Santa's toy center.

The toy shop serves the communities of Pomona, Walnut, Claremont, Chino and Diamond Bar.

Officials for Santa Claus, Inc., expect to provide toys to some 1,000 children from 300 families this Christmas. This is about the same number as served last year.

The toy distribution will climax a year of preparation by volunteers headed by Mrs. Ella Bockover and her daughters, Ula Smith and Barbara Jefford.

Also assisting were members of the Pomona Kiwanis Club, Altrusa Club, Junior Women's Clubs in Diamond Bar and Pomona, and the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors.

Santa's workshop is located on the Pomona Mall.

Claremont gets aid for elderly program

The city of Claremont has received a grant of $15,128 from the Area Agency on Aging to operate the city's senior citizens information and referral center at 211 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

The office provides outreach services — information regarding transportation, health, welfare, nutrition, legal referral, consumer affairs and welfare counseling — and coordinates with other social services such as Department of Social Services, health department, and social security.

City officials opened the office in September.

The grant will allow the city to continue the center through Oct. 31, 1976.

The center is operated through the city office of Human Resources Coordinator Pete West.

More information on the center's services may be obtained by phoning 621-4969.

Dog that bit woman found, had rabies shot

The dog that bit Mrs. Hazel Hallock of San Dimas last Saturday was located Thursday, relieving her of the necessity of undergoing anti-rabies inoculations.

The dog had had rabies vaccine, according to Bruce Richards, director of the Pomona Valley Humane Society. However, it has been placed under 10-day quarantine at the animal shelter to make certain it is free of disease.

Richards said the animal the pet of a San Dimas family, was found while a Humane Society employe was looking for a stray in the neighborhood near the Hallocks.

Mrs. Hallock identified the animal.

Utility tax exemption must be sought now

Pomona residents eligible for the city's utility tax exemption should apply for the exemption this month, if they have not already done so announced Pomona City Clerk Larry Thomas.

The exemption is available to persons with less than $4,000 annual income.

Application for the exemption must be made each year or the six per cent tax will be added to utility billings automatically at the first of the year.

Persons may complete the exemption application at the City Clerk's Office at Pomona City Hall.

Truck accident litters freeway with sheetrock

A tractor-trailer truck overturned Thursday night spilling a large load of sheetrock across the west-bound lanes of the San Bernardino Freeway and slowing traffic for more than an hour, according to the California Highway Patrol.

CHP Officers reported that the truck driven by Knoll Edward King overturned about 8:30 p.m. spilling large sheets of the material for home insulation across all westbound lanes of the freeway west of Mountain Avenue. The driver was not injured.

Ontario firemen and Cal Trans workers worked more than an hour removing the debris.

Driver, 13, cited in traffic injury

A 13-year-old Ontario youth was cited for reckless driving and driving without a license Wednesday after his car hit a young girl and crashed through several fences at 1666 S. Cypress Ave., Ontario police reported.

The 9-year-old girl injured in the accident, Annette Linsdell of 832 W. Linden St., Ontario, was listed in good condition this morning at Kaiser's Fontana hospital with multiple injuries.

Police said the youth, whose name was not released, was not injured in the mishap.

Bureaucrats' deeds live on

We watch Supreme Court appointments with care and analyze each choice in depth. We know the man or woman chosen for this third branch of government could have a major effect on our lives for years to come.

We tend to forget there's a fourth branch of government — the regulatory agencies — many of which, once set up, are beyond the practical year-to-year control of either the President or Congress. Their powers, in the main, are so broad, and their authority to write regulations and to interpret them is so great, they are, in effect, laws unto themselves. They have in their hands virtually unchallengeable power to make or break almost any firm in the United States, to destroy whole sections of industry, or give virtually absolute protection from major competition to any company or group of companies in their field of authority.

They can favor one section of the country over another, discourage technological advances, force higher prices, create artificial shortages which spur inflation and unemployment.

The regulations frequently are so written that some commission can, at will, find any company at any time in violation of some rule or other. The commissioners are thus in a position to favor their friends and penalize their enemies.

The bureaucrats in these agencies often serve for a working lifetime and influence greatly the attitudes of the agencies. The top men most frequently serve for fixed terms — so that a President's influence here may last for years after he has left office. And a new President may find his will thwarted by men installed by a predecessor.

President Nixon's Arthur Burns, for example, is still serving as chairman of the Federal Reserve System, one of numbers of older appointees still in positions of power.

Despite concerted Congressional attacks on some [illegible] Ford's appointees, and while our attention [illegible] diverted by the bitter infighting in [illegible] changes in the regulatory agencies, [illegible] has managed to insert his men with his philosophy as chairmen for a major chunk of the regulatory agencies he has on his priority list.

These men are committed to deregulation as a way of life and resolved on a greater use of competition as a substitute for controls wherever possible.

The list is short but significant — Roderick Hills at the Securities and Exchange Commission, John Robson at the Civil Aeronautics Board, Richard Dunham at the Federal Power Commission and Karl E. Bakke at the Federal Maritime Commission.

As noted above, the laws setting up these agencies and setting forth their powers and authority are so broad that these new chairmen, when backed by even a minority of other board or commission members, can make radical changes in how industry is regulated these next few years, even if Congress does nothing about Mr. Ford's proposed regulatory commission reforms.

The drive for revised laws, nevertheless, is being pushed with determination by the Ford action group so that future commission chairmen and members cannot revert to today's "bad old ways." The hope is they'd be so restructured and bled of authority in some essential respect they'll never again be a barrier to that competition which Ford's men believe is the most effective form of regulation.

The proposed laws also aim at giving industry confidence that change is taking place — this to encourage innovations which have been held back for years under the present methods of operation.

Elusive stamp of success

Everybody wants to get into the stamp act, says the U.S. Postal Service.

In an average year, the service receives several thousand ideas for special commemorative stamps from various individuals and organizations. Out of them, the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, composed of business people, artists, historians and stamp collectors, selects maybe 15 or 16 which it recommends to the postmaster general.

Among suggestions the committee has considered, and rejected, was a stamp commemorating the 2,000th swimming pool built in Palm Springs.

One ingenious person suggested a stamp saluting the pretzel industry — with beer-flavored glue on the reverse side. Another intriguing idea was to feature the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted" fugitives on a series of stamps.

Also turned down was a request for a stamp honoring the devil to be issued in Hell. Michigan, that is.

For a special delivery, perhaps?

Save the post office

Dear Editor:

Ever since I bought my first postage stamp at Pomona's Thomas Street postoffice, opposite the old City Hall, I have admired its beautiful Spanish architecture.

My disappointment was great when the downtown postoffice was moved to that ugly high rise cement eyesore on Park Avenue.

Before, the parking was easy and leisurely. Now there is never enough parking space and not a green spot to feast your eye on.

I was extremely happy when I read that letter in the Progress Bulletin expressing my sentiments about the old postoffice, now standing empty in all its beauty in a parklike surrounding. Is there really a chance to save that lovely building? — Mrs. Gertrude Meyer, Diamond Bar

Basics replaced

Dear Editor:

Since when has the Pomona Unified School District administrators, along with the school board, alone established the "realistic" educational goals and priorities for 20,000 students? Who has directed Ray Thomas, assistant superintendent of educational services, to shift the emphasis of the district's testing from reading, writing and math to "art, sciences, humanities, athletics and citizenship?"

Once again, without the input from the community, educators are allowed to establish "unrealistic" educational goals for our children. For as long as public schools have existed, the three "r's" have been the foundation of educational programs. It appears now that teachers and administrators cannot teach the basics; they will teach whatever they damned well please. Nobody ever said that these basic subjects were easy to teach. Everyone that I know has had to discipline themselves into becoming good readers, communicators and practical mathematicians.

Interacting with society is important and success in that society depends greatly on a person's ability to be economically independent and a contributing member to the community. Without a basic education, prepared in the three "r's", an individual has lost the right to compete on the job market and maintain a dignity with family and community. — Martha A. Vejar, Diamond Bar

Ralph de Toledano

The curses of journalism

WASHINGTON — The Washington press corps and the national media complain mightily that they are under unfair attack by conservatives and that this is eroding the First Amendment. Over the years, I have been sharply criticized for my own strictures, and told that I am "fouling my own nest" by holding up this newspaper or that newspaperman for censure.

I was therefore delighted to receive a copy of "A Gang of Pecksniffs" (Arlington House — New Rochelle, N.Y. 10801) — a collection of pieces on newspapers and newspapermen, drawn from the writings of H. L. Mencken by Theo Lippman Jr. of the Baltimore Sun.

Since Mencken's independent and irreverent pronouncements brought joy to both left and right, it cannot be said that this book has any bias other than its author's shameless honesty.

H. L. Mencken had some galling words to say about Washington correspondents who, after a few months in the nation's capital to pick up its "meretricious values, and are unable to distinguish men of sense and honesty from mountebanks. They come in as newspapermen trained to get the news and eager to get it; they end up as tin-horn statesmen . . . and unable to write the truth if they tried."

His comments on what we call today "advocacy journalism" — it was called "crusading" in his day — might have been written during the Watergate news orgy.

"The truth is that this crusading business is one of the worst curses of journalism," Mencken wrote in 1918. "It trades upon one of the sorriest weaknesses of man — the desire to see the other fellow jump . . . No newspaper, carrying on a crusade against a man, ever does it fairly and decently; not many of them even make the pretense.

"On the contrary, they always do it extravagantly and cruelly, pursuing him with dishonest innuendo . . . The fact that (newspapermen) fight behind breastworks, against an enemy who can't strike back, makes poltroons of them. That sort of thing is not war; it is lynching — and lynching is surely no sport for men presumably of honor."

Mencken describes in detail how this is done — the steady sniping, the small lies repeated over and over, the destruction of any possible respect for the man at the business end of the "crusade" -- and the final unleashing of a charge of "capital crime" which would go unheeded if the stage had not been so carefully set.

It should be noted that Mencken swung a mean cutlass — and the obituary he wrote of William Jennings Bryan shocked his editors. But when the Sunpapers gave him a Monday morning column, he insisted that Gerald Johnson, who held strong counter-views, be given a Thursday column in which to register his liberal response. But Mencken went beyond this.

He reported in the same piece that "I gave every aggrieved man, absolutely without condition, full liberty to strike back in my own paper, at any length and in any terms. These counterblasts often filled double the space of my own fancies. Moreover, they had just as much display . . . Nobody was stabbed in the back . . . Sometimes I got the better of it, and sometimes I got a good pummeling."

In contrast, those who are shafted by the media today have almost no recourse. With luck, they may get a chance to see their denials buried in the letters section. But I can recall no instance in which someone thoroughly skinned on network television news is allowed to make his rebuttal on prime time — if at all.

Jack Anderson

The CIA assassinations

WASHINGTON — The Senate Intelligence Committee was unable to pin down any proof that past Presidents authorized the CIA to assassinate foreign leaders.

Top CIA officials, however, have now broken their silence on this subject. They have told us categorically that all the assassination plots had White House approval.

To avoid embarrassing a President, no written record was kept. This provided the Presidents with what the Senate report calls "plausible deniability." But the CIA officials have given us this rundown:

Eisenhower Administration — The late CIA chief Allen Dulles personally consulted President Eisenhower about the plot to poison the Congo's Patrice Lumumba. Dulles had a tendency to talk in circles. He probably used delicate words in discussing the assassination plot.

But he came back and reported to associates that the President had authorized the plot to kill Lumumba.

Kennedy Administration — The late Robert Kennedy, according to our sources, took a personal interest in the effort to eliminate Cuba's Fidel Castro. Kennedy pursued the details down through the lower levels. He had full knowledge of the "executive action plan," as the plot against Castro was known.

Our sources weren't privy to Robert Kennedy's private conversations with his brother, the President. But our sources regard it as highly unlikely that Robert withheld anything from his brother.

In any event, President Kennedy put Robert in charge of a counterinsurgency committee, called the Special Group, which concentrated on harassing Castro. The President's brother complained about the use of mobsters to kill Castro but approved of the plot, our sources swear.

Johnson Administration — President Johnson, upon being advised of the CIA plots to assassinate foreign leaders, made it clear he didn't want to know about them. There were some activities, he indicated, that the President shouldn't be told about.

Or as one source put it: "Lyndon Johnson was really quite sagacious in staying away from anything that might later blow up in his face."

LBJ, therefore, was not informed personally about the continuing effort to knock off Castro.

Nixon Administration — President Nixon was given an oral briefing on the assassination attempts, a briefing which might have been recorded on the secret White House tapes.

Our sources say Nixon was "gung ho" about covert activities, that he personally ordered CIA chief Richard Helms to foment a coup against Chile's late President Salvador Allende. But Nixon gave no assassination orders.

Clearly, not only the CIA but the White House must be restricted against using murder as an instrument of U.S. foreign policy.

Just in jest

One thing folks seldom worried about back in the early Nineteen Hundreds was an energy shortage. If they needed more power to provide the necessities and comforts of life they simply chopped and stacked an extra cord of wood, installed a solar heater on the roof, hung an evaporative cooler out on the back porch, erected a larger windmill or maybe even built themselves a water wheel.

It has only been since we began fooling around with energy producing methods such as gasoline driven internal combustion engines, electricity, and nuclear fission that our energy shortage troubles really began. — But who would want to return to a world where it took two hours to travel 12 miles on a dusty rutted road — where cleaning and burnishing kerosene lamp chimneys was a daily chore — where you milked your own cow and churned your own butter — chopped and corded your own firewood — raised chickens — and planted a backyard garden and vegetable patch? —Well, don't be too sure that a lot of folks who are worrying about their electric bills, their gas bills, and wondering where their next gallon of gasoline is coming from wouldn't welcome a return to those good old days. After all, for countless thousands they provided a way of life that somehow resulted in a much more bearable world than the one in which we are now living.

World entering service economy

To talk about the future of our lives at all is risky. No one knows for sure what the next few minutes may bring.

The people who talk about the future have even discovered their own language. They call themselves Futurists.

They discuss the post-industrial, post-scarcity, super-industrial, globally-hemeopathic, post-affluent, prefigurative society that may, they say, be soon upon us.

Their models are developed through trend extrapolation, cross impact analysis, mutual casual paradigms, and transformational matrixes, predicted on rezometrics; technotronics, synergetics, or anticipatory democracy within either macro or micro systems.

What all this means to you and me is that we can expect a great deal of change to occur in the years ahead.

Twenty-five years from now our world's population may be six billion people. We may by then have developed the ability to recreate ourselves through genetic engineering; to create a race of men and women less hostile to each other, less selfish of their own resources.

We may be able to alter our weather as well as our consciousness. Within only three short years, 50% of the world's population will be reachable by television, and 50% of the world's goods and services will be produced by multinational corporations.

We are changing from an industrial economy into a service economy, an economy in which service availability, and informational availability, will become the currency of the future.

We are sure to go through a series of violent, as well as non-violent wars of redistribution like the current crisis over who can charge how much for oil.

But none of us, of course, can plot or plan our future, unless we are able to know the past, and describe with some specificity our condition in the spresent.

* * *

In 1974, over 21,000 murders were reported to the FBI.

Over 73% of these were committed by people who knew, or who were related to their victims. One fourth occured within families.

Another statistic tells us that over 40% of all American murders are committed with handguns, fewer than 14% with rifles and shotguns, and 18% with knives.

Finally, one last figure: handgun deaths in the United States have increased 50% in the last 10 years.

All this ought to tell us that the hollow sloganeering of those who want every American to have a private arsenal — slogans like "when guns are criminal only criminals will have guns" — may mean we have less to fear from criminals than we do from our wives or husbands or neighbors or friends.

Handguns kill someone, somewhere in America, every 47 minutes. Each year, more than 2½ million new versions of these death dealing devices enter the market through the 159,000 licensed gun dealers in America.

Handguns were used in more than 10,000 suicides and more than 3,500 accidental deaths last year.

National polls tell us, year after year, that a clear majority of us want some controls, including registration of these weapons. Yet, year after year, a fearful Congress refuses to act.

Neither the Kennedy assassinations, or the King killing, or the attempts on President Ford's life, seem to have given any impetus to Congress to act.

How many more of us will die before we give a death sentence to these guns?

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress Bulletin, P.O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. Some mini-information on valley mini-bus

People have told me there is a mini-bus service that runs to Montclair Plaza.

There is a bench, they say, in front of Sears at Indian Hill Village, Pomona, where one boards it.

No one knows the starting and ending time or the price of the fare.

It sounds like good news for elders who have no access to auto transportation.

I can't even find out where to call for information. — L.D., Pomona

That bench is in front of the furniture window on the north side of Sears at Indian Hill Village, Pomona.

It will cost you 25 cents to get to Montclair Plaza. For the same quarter, you may transfer to one but only one of four other mini-bus routes of the San Bernardino County Public Transit System.

Cities you can reach in addition to Montclair are Chino, Los Serranos, Ontario, Upland, Cucamonga and Alta Loma.

You may obtain a complete schedule from the system's office at 1414 W. Holt Blvd., Ontario, or at the city halls of Ontario, Montclair, Chino or Upland.

Starting time from Indian Hill Village (the Sears stop) is 7:15 a.m. The last bus returns to that stop at 7:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Hours on Saturday are 8:15 a.m. to 7:15 p.m. and on Sunday from 9:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

My friend and I want to get tickets to see the show called "Happy Days" on Channel 7 but we don't know the address.

When the show is on TV I look to see if the address is given. It isn't.

Can you tell me the address? — R.V., Claremont.

There are three addresses where you may obtain tickets to most shows taped at ABC: 4151 Prospect Ave., Los Angeles; 1313 N. Vine St., Hollywood, and 1735 N. Vine St., Hollywood.

You may pick them up in person at one of the three locations Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For "Happy Days" you won't have to do that. We wrote to ABC at the Los Angeles address and as a result Joseph R. Di Sante, guest relations representative of the station, sent you four tickets.

Tickets for one show on the channel, "Let's Make A Deal," are hard to come by. They can be obtained only by writing and there is an 18-month waiting period right now.

I sent a check to Super Values in New York for iron-on T-shirt transfers.

As I didn't receive them after more than a month, I sent a letter to the company.

Fifteen days have passed and I still have not heard from the company so I am writing to you asking if you could either get my order filled or my money back. — J.S., Pomona.

Super Values returned our letter with a notation that your transfers were re-shipped about two weeks after we wrote to the firm. You thanked us for ironing out your problem.

Ann Landers

Phony friend is no loss

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have quit drinking. One of us had a serious problem with alcohol, so we both decided to put it out of our lives. Our good friends are aware of this and have expressed their admiration.

This morning I received a real jolt. A "friend" who always leans on us when she's in trouble telephoned to say she is giving a rather large suprise party for a mutual friend but, "I didn't invite you because we'll be serving liquor and wine and the whole bit."

I wonder if she excluded any diabetics because she is serving a dessert. I had a good cry over the loss of our friendship because it died right there.

Please tell your readers (my former friend is among them) that alcoholism is a disease that can be controlled. We enlightened alcoholics realize it and can handle any invitation very nicely, thank you. — Making It

Dear M. I.: I don't want to pour kerosone on a brush fire, honey, but I think your "friend" already knows this. She didn't want to include you for another reason and that was her excuse.

The loss of her friendship is nothing to cry about. She's a phony.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a switchboard operator in a very large and busy company. Every now and then some paranoid nut accuses me of listening in on her calls. It's always a woman — never a man. This makes me so mad I could chew carpet tacks.

Some of the operators I work with get the same kind of gaff. I hope you will tell your readers who really believe this nonsense that if they stood behind us for fifteen minutes and saw the number of calls we handle, they'd apologize.

Can you imagine anything duller than listening to a lot of garbage about what their kids did over the weekend or what happened at the Smith's party or the Schwartz's Bar Mitzvah? I'd rather read a book.

Be a Pussy Cat and print this letter, will you, Ann? Sign me — Fed Up In New Brunswick

Dear Fed: O.K. Here's your letter. Sign me — Pussy Cat In Chicago

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you because my husband and I are deeply concerned about our 17-year-old daughter. Molly is terribly obsessed with death and anything connected with it.

The moment the newspaper comes to the house, Molly must see it immediately and check the obituaries. If she reads about the death of a young person she clips it out and puts it in a scrapbook. She has been doing this for at least two years and is now on her second scrapbook.

Molly goes to the cemetery about three times a week to visit the graves of some of her "scrapbook friends," as she calls them. She loves movies about death and went to see "The Exorcist" three times.

She is not a lonely girl and goes out frequently with fruends. There is nothing strange about her except this.

Do you believe she should have counseling? — Her Parents

Dear Parents: A 17-year-old who goes to the cemetery three times a week to visit the graves of people she never knew is unquestionably in need of professional help. I hope Molly will speak to her school counselor or a therapist of your choosing. Your family doctor can direct you.

No shootouts in old Canada

Canada's Northwest Mounted Police moved westward a little ahead of most of the settlers. But the lawmen of the United States didn't, generally. Rangers, marshals and sheriffs for the most part only took charge after they were needed. As a result, this country's folk lore glorifies all sorts of gunslingers whether they drew and fired for the law or against it. Canada's lore doesn't. There's no literary section of shootouts in Canada's own library of fact and fiction.

CAR DESIGN

Q. "How many Congressional committees and federal agencies now have a hand in the design of future cars?"

A. At least 17 Congressional committees and five federal agencies.

KING OF BEASTS

Argument continues as to which of the great animals should be identified as the King of Beasts. Not the lion, certainly. The male lion is a gigolo that leaves most of the hunting to the ladyfriends. Class the tiger as a dictator, not a king. A king is not supposed to be that sneaky or vicious. Those who are supposed to know say simply there is no King of Beasts. But there's a Queen. The she-elephant.

Flying is for the birds

Among the clutter of goodies and not-so-goodies in my wallet, amid my driver's license, YMCA card, highway patrol press card, expired credit cards and overdue bills, is a small green card attesting to my membership in the Man Will Never Fly Memorial Society, Internationale, with headquarters in Kill Devil Hills, N.C.

(My wife belongs to the Department of Natural Unicorns, so the kids are a little strange on both sides of the family.)

The MWNFMSI was formed in 1959 on the eve of the alleged First Flight in 1903 of Wilbur and Orville Wright at Kitty Hawk (now Kill Devil Hills), by journalist Jack Aulis and Dr. Ed North. The society's motto: "Birds fly; men drink."

The organization was formed to fill two vital needs: first, there was at that time no Man Will Never Fly Memorial Society, and secondly, there weren't enough people on the North Carolina Outer Banks to have a party the night of Dec. 16.

"There are now an estimated 500 members," says North. "We can't be exact, air crashes being what they are. Members are mostly newsmen and women, pilots, aviation industry people, and those everywhere to whom the pure logic of the Society's cause appeals."

The annual meeting of the MWNFMSI will be held at the Ramada Inn at Nags Head, N.C., from 4 p.m. Dec. 16 to 10:30 a.m. Dec. 17, the hour of the Wright brothers purported flight. The speakers will be Jack Shaffer, former head of the Federal Aviation Administration, and balloonist Bob Sparks. "Those still awake," reads the invitation, "can dance to the music of One-Handed Millie."

If you can't make it to the annual meeting of the mother group, you might drop in at the gathering of other chapters. The Fly-Wrights of Dayton, Ohio, Ohio, are continuing their project of recycling airplanes into beer cans. In Austin, Tex., the White Knucklers will convene at the Cisco International Airport, where all the runways end in restrooms. Also observing the non-flight of the Wrighteous Brothers will be the Kodiak, Alaska, chapter of the MWNFMSI. In recognition of Women's Lib, the meetings will be preceded by an hour of fellowship (and girlship).

The basic contention of the Man Will Never Fly Memorial Society is that nothing made of several tons of metal is ever going to "fly." What "flying machines" do move about the skies are there merely by an act of faith resulting from an international conspiracy.

Though I am overweeningly proud of my membership in the society, I must confess that I joined under false colors. The organization is for people who are afraid to fly. I am not afraid of flying — I am afraid of not-flying — especially at 30,000 feet.

Dr. Lamb

Straight facts about ulcers

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a bleeding ulcer perforate a year ago and had two-thirds of my stomach removed. I heard that you have an issue of The Health Letter on ulcers and wondered if I could have it? Also what are my chances of the ulcer returning? The acid-stimulating nerves to to my stomach were cut when I had my surgery.

I can eat nearly anything with no bad sick spells. However, I worry a lot about the chances of the ulcer returning. I would really appreciate any information you can give me.

DEAR READER — Yes, there is an issue of The Health Letter, number 1-5, Ulcers: Duodenal, Stomach, that discusses the types of ulcers and what to do for them. You and other readers who want this can get it by sending in 50 cents for it and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I'm happy to tell you that your chances of having a recurrence of your ulcer are quite small. In a combined series of patients from different hospitals studied for over eight years, less than three per cent with the same operation you had developed a recurrence.

Most ulcer patients who are not bleeding and don't have an obstruction or perforation can eat most foods. It is apparently not too important what such a patient eats as long as they eat regularly. The food helps to neutralize the acid digestive juice.

The most important changes in habits for the ulcer patient include avoiding foods or beverages that contain caffeine. This drug stimulates the stomach to form excess acid digestive juice. So you should not drink coffee (you can use decaffeinated brands), tea, colas or cocoa and should avoid chocolate. The other beverage that is a real no-no is alcohol. It too stimulates the stomach to produce massive amounts of acid digestive juice leading to ulcers.

Finally, you and anyone else with any history of ulcers or ulcer-like problems should not use tobacco in any form.

For other tips on prevention or management of ulcers, read the issue of The Health Letter you asked about. Follow these directions even if you have had surgery, and you will probably not have any trouble again.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My mother read somewhere that deep knee bends tore out the ligaments in a person's knees. My friend and I have been doing deep knee bends to reduce our thighs with adequate results. Could you tell us if it is bad for us?

DEAR READER — There is some danger that as the knee is bent to the maximum amount under weight that you may put too much stress on structures in the knee joint. However, many people do deep knee bends and never have a problem.

An alternative is to change your method. Instead of doing a full deep knee bend, kneel on one knee with the foot of the other leg forward and knee bent to a right angle. Then as you rise up lift your weight with the front leg. This will put a little more pull on your thigh muscles, but it will avoid overbending of the knee joint.

Then kneel on the other knee and lift with the other leg. In general this is a very satisfactory and safe way to do knees bends.

Thoughts

So I became great and surpassed all who were before me in Jerusalem; also my wisdom remained with me. And whatever my eyes desired I did not keep from them; I kept my heart from no pleasure, for my heart found pleasure in all my toil, and this was my reward for all my toil. — Eccl. 2:9, 10.

"God intends no man to live in this world without working; but it seems to me no less evident that He intends every man to be happy in his work." — John Ruskin, English essayist.

It has been testified to somewhere, "What is man that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that thou carest for him? Thou didst make him for a little while lower than the angels, thou hast crowned him with flory and honor." — Hebrews 1:6, 7.

"A really great man is known by three signs — generosity in the design, humanity in the execution, moderation in success." — Otto von Bismarck, German military statesman.

Astrographs

For Saturday, Dec. 6

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't make winning or being the best at something so important today that you'll behave so as to be offensive to others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be very selective of those whom you choose to pal around with today. An erratic companion could cause you some problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a tendency today to try things before taking the time to evaluate the consequences. Don't be in such a rush.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Business conditions are exceptionally tricky for you today. Handle your affairs prudently. Avoid debit spending.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Usually you're fairly easy to get along with. Today you're not likely to be as co-operative as you should be. Stubborness doesn't become you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you feel a bit uptight today, it's probably because you've given yourself too much to do and no enough time to do it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An interesting day for you socially, but you're apt to experience some complications if you fraternize with the wrong group.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Harmony at home will be in precarious balance today. Be careful not to stir up an old issue that's best left forgotten.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful if traveling today, especially on short normally routine hops. It's no big deal if you're a little late.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Get a firmer grip than usual on your wallet today so temptation to spend beyond your means doesn't gain the upper hand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This will be a busy and somewhat disruptive day. You're apt to feel pulled in several directions at once.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today you'll rationalize and look for excuses for neglecting your responsibilities. They won't be magically whisked away.

YOUR BIRTHDAY DEC. 6

This coming year will be a restless one for you in a pleasant way. You'll develop new interests, seek new friends and do more traveling than usual.

Jacoby's bridge

Bid psychs club lead

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some 40 years ago there was going to be an all-expert rubber bridge game at the Jacoby home. Harold Vanderbilt (the inventor of contract) was late and Mrs. Jacoby was drafted to play one rubber with her husband until the fourth arrived.

On what turned out to be the final hand of the rubber Jacoby improvised a bid that brought in an impossible grand slam for him. He sat North and was faced with the problem of what to bid over West's five-heart bid. He realized that if he could stop a heart lead his partner would wrap up seven spades. How could he stop it?

A cue bid followed by a seven-spade bid would be too obvious. Finally he solved his problem by just bidding seven spades.

It was up to West to lead. He thought and thought some more. Vanderbilt arrived while he was thinking and was told to stay away from the table until the hand was finished.

It didn't take long. West decided that North was surely void of hearts. He led the king of clubs and Mrs. Jacoby had no trouble making all the tricks.

♠ A Q 5 4 ♥ K J 3 2 ♦ 7 4 ♣ J 9 6

after your partner has doubled a one-diamond opening by your left hand opponent.

This is an easy one for modern bidders. Just cue bid two diamonds. You want to get to game somewhere. Make your partner bid a suit. He is likely to bid a major whereupon you raise him to game.

Don't abandon home gardening due to winter

By CHARLES BASHAM

Many people mistakenly believe home vegetable gardening ends with the summer months, and winter gardening should be left to the commercial experts. Consquently, winter vegetable gardening has become a lost art to the home grower.

With the mild winter climate and infrequent frosts, this valley is suitable for growing dozens of cool-weather vegetables, and many of the home-grown favorites actually improve in taste with a good stiff frost.

Starting a home vegetable garden during the winter months is said to be easier than in the summer. The soil must be deeply turned and all of the weeds removed — chores far easier to perform in the cool, softer soil of the fall.

When turning the soil of a garden spot in a sunny location, try to remove all of the larger rocks and dirt clods, and level off the soil surface. Avoid creating large depressions which may turn to crop-damaging puddles in the heavy winter rains. The garden should have a slight drainage slope to shed excess water.

A loose, sandy-based soil is best for all vegetable growing, but much of this valley consists of a tighter clay-type topsoil. Introducing and mixing organic material like compost, lawn clippings, fertilizers and shredded leaves into the soil will do much to enrich and improve the soil consistency. If the organic material is green when mixed, apply a generous helping of ammonium sulfate. This important step will increase the nitrogen content of the soil and allow better plant growth until the organic matter has time to decompose.

Addition of a "complete" fertilizer (containing nitrogen, potassium and phosphorous), can enrich the soil immediately and may prove to be easiest of all additives. If you apply a steer manure, you should water it thoroughly and wait two weeks to a month, giving it time to decompose. The quantity and type of soil nutrient to use will depend on the soil and size of your garden plot. Consult your local nurseryman if there are doubts, and carefully follow the directions on the package.

Choosing a vegetable to plant depends on its seasonal preference and your family's tastes. Locally, the most commonly grown winter leaf vegetables are lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower. Popular root vegetables that do very well this time of year include turnips, beets, onions, carrots and radishes. Some of the better, larger plant varieties are celery, broccoli and brussels sprouts. There are many varieties to choose and confuse you, and a helpful description of plant taste and growth pattern is on the back of each seed packet.

Seed planting is a simple project but you should follow the package directions carefully. During the winter months try to plant the seeds shallower than normal, but when planting in this manner pay close attention to water habits. Sprinkle lightly and often to keep the ground moist, not letting a hard mud crust form on the surface. Irrigation furrows are an option, with light sprinklers a favorite for the long winter germination period.

Seed spacing is important. Be aware of the mature size of a plant, following the seed packet spacing directions even though it seems a waste of growing space. Over crowding causes long hours of thinning and plant deformities. For the root crops like carrots, don't plant in a single, narrow row, but over a how-wide swath cut through the garden.

If your garden fever can't wait for seedlings to sprout, many vegetables like celery and lettuce can be bought pre-sprouted from your local nursery, and only require transplanting. If you want to do it yourself, indoor seed planting will reduce the time of outdoor sprouting when grown in old flower pots and empty milk cartons. When transplanting indoor sprouts, care should be taken in getting them used to the cooler outdoors. This is called hardening, and involves taking the plant sprouts outdoors for increasingly longer periods during the day and night over the duration of about a week.

Frosts are really no problem. Most plants can take the lower temperatures quite well, but, draping a few inexpensive, lightweight plastic painting dropcloths over the garden will prevent any chance of freezing. Local radio stations usually broadcast advance frost warnings for the citrus growers, and you can call for the Agricultural Weather Forecast from the University of Riverside at (714) 686-1433.

There is much information available for the home gardener from the local libraries and government agencies. The Farm Advisory Office — Cooperative Extension Service, has free information and pamphlets available for the home gardener. In Los Angeles they can be reached by calling (213) 749-6911, or writing to their office at 155 W. Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90015. In San Bernardino the office is located at 566 Lugo Ave., San Bernardino, CA 92415, or call (714) 383-2768. Your nurseryman may also have information available, like the vegetable gardening books published by the Ortho Chemical Company and Sunset Magazine.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I always understood that the insulation in the attic should be placed between the joists of the floor. We are having our attic finished in the near future by a professional contractor and he is making plans to place the insulation in the attic roof. Is this correct?

A.—Yes. The insulation goes in the floor only when the attic is unheated. Since, in this case, the attic apparently will be heated, the contractor is correct in planning to place the insulation under the roof. It is assumed that he knows about the necessity of having sufficient ventilation in the upper part of the attic as well as placing the vapor barrier on the insulation so that it faces the heated areas.

Q.—We want to put a finish on a piece of unfinished furniture we bought, yet aren't too keen about the high gloss of shellac, varnish and lacquer. What can we use?

A.—You could use a semigloss varnish, but your best bet probably is a penetrating resin sealer.

Q. — I stained the top of a table with what is called on the can a "pigmented wiping" stain. It came out darker than I planned. Is there anything that can be done about this?

A — The chances are the label on the container tells you to use a paint thinner of a particular kind for that grain. Rubbing the surface with a cloth moistened in the thinner will lighten the wood. You may have to repeat the operation several times.

Home and garden

Gardeners check list

Camellias are blooming in nurseries right now and it is an excellent time to shop for these California favorites. You can select the exact colors you wish to add to your garden.

Snails and slugs are active during cool weather. Scatter snail bait around the garden — and keep a supply on hand since rain can wash out the effectiveness of the bait.

It's not too early to start thinking about crabgrass control. Consult your nurseryman about commercially-prepared controls for use on lawns where the pesky invader caused trouble this past summer.

Turn Tuberous Begonias on their sides to let the soil dry gradually. When the tops separate from the tubers, wash the soil from around the latter. Sun dry them and store the tubers in a cool place.

Plant tulip bulbs a little deeper than most written instructions indicate. In mild winter climates in California, you can plant the bulbs eight to ten inches deep in sandy soils. Many nurseries still have a good selection of spring-blooming bulbs to choose from.

James R. Beckwith has been named as manager of the Diamond Bar Nurseryland Garden Center at 21144 Golden Spring Dr.

Previously assistant manager of the local gardening outlet, Beckwith studied ornamental horticulture at Cal Poly, Pomona. He resides in West Covina.

With 17 locations in Southern California, Nurseryland Garden Centers is the largest retail nursery concern in the eleven western states. The company is a subsidiary of La Jolla-based Intermark, Inc.

WINTER GARDEN — There are many bedding plants to bring brilliant colors to a winter garden. For one of the brightest color shows, plant plenty of calendulas. They are ideal for flower beds and edging situations. Calendulas are also excellent choices for borders, pots and window boxes.

Bedding plants good for winter

Bedding plants help keep California gardens alive and blooming throughout the cool and rainy season. Along with the all-time favorite blooming shrubs — azaleas and camellias — bedding plants provide bright spurts of color throughout the landscape. To get the maximum enjoyment, bedding plants should be planted right now.

Bedding plants are annuals and perennials that produce an abundance of color in flower beds. By setting them out now, the plants will create a late winter and springtime fiesta of color in the garden, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Nurseries have a good selection of cool season bedding plants. Right now you will find Iceland Poppies already showing color in nursery flats. Dependable bedders for winter display, their long stems support crinkled, textured cups of orange, white, pink, yellow, red and cream flowers. Iceland Poppies should be planted in a well-drained soil in a spot that received a maximum amount of sunlight.

Calendulas display intense shades of orange, gold, yellow and cream. They are in bloom now and will continue blooming into early summer. Calendulas are available in nurseries in flats and pots — already in boom. Aside from being superb choices for brightening up flower beds, "Pot Margolds," are excellent subjects for growing in containers and window boxe.

Joyce Brothers
Assess situation

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who lives in a suburb where everybody has most everything they want — at least as far as money is concerned. My parents have always given me everything I wanted, but I've always felt they loved each other so much they didn't have room for me. I guess I really feel they don't care what I do because they don't place any restrictions on me. All my friends have to be home at a certain time and things like that, and my folks never tell me when to be home or when to do anything. — A.M.

Dear A.M.: It may be that your parents trust you so much they feel it is unnecessary to tell you when to come home from dates. You may be misinterpreting their respect and faith in you because of your feeling that their love for each other is so strong, there couldn't possibly be any left over for you.

The fact that your parents love each other makes them more likely and more able to love you. There are many kinds of love and their love for you, as their child, will certainly not be the same love they feel for each other, but it is no less sincere and profound. A parent is capable of a more mature love than a child and they will find satisfaction in expressing their love and meeting the needs and dependency of the child or adolescent.

Your parents may feel that because of the way they have raised you, you are now ready to make many more decisions on your own than you are really prepared for. This may mean they misjudged the situation, but it doesn't mean that they don't care for you. Teenagers often interpret permissiveness as a sign that their parents simply don't care enough to provide the guidance they need and want. There's no reason why you can't sit down and talk with them honestly and openly. Tell them you sometimes feel burdened by so many choices and that you need their help in making some of the decisions. The chances are they will try to provide more guidance in the future.

If your conversations fail, and if for some reasons in their their own background, they do not provide any further guidance, then you may be forced into taking more responsiblity for your own life and welfare. Try to remember that if you take advantage of their permissiveness, you are the one most likely to be hurt. You must be your own rulebook and guide for good and safe behavior that will not injure your chances for happiness.

You must learn to say "no" without making enemies. This is something that will come in handy all of your life. It's hard to carry so much responsibility with no help from parents, and in order to do this you must learn that it's quite possible to wait for gratification — everything doesn't need to happen right now; sometimes it's much better later.

Before you do anything rash, make sure that you are assessing your situation realistically. Give your parents a chance and let them in on how you feel.

Often, young people who feel their parents don't care run away and turn their backs on their parents' generation. This is not the answer. More often than not, it leads to serious trouble rather than growth, understanding and development.

If your parents are able to love each other, the chances are they are able to love you too and that they do. They are just expressing it in a way that is confusing to you not.

Casa Colina benefit scheduled Sunday

Casa Colina Auxiliary members will sponsor a benefit day, Sunday, at the Acapulco Restaurant on Foothill Boulevard in Pomona.

Proceeds from the event will aid the multiply-handicapped preschoolers at the Children's Development Center at Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona.

Members will greet diners and will supply information about Casa Colina programs. New fashions from their gift shop on the hospital grounds will be modeled informally throughout the day. Special boutique items will be available in the lobby of the restaurant.

Chef Raymond Marshall has several friends who have been patients at Casa Colina and Sunday will mark the second time he has shared the day's proceeds with Casa Colina.

Lou Torres and Nick Montoya, managers of the local restaurant, have assured auxiliary members that ample seating will be available. A suggestion menu of brunch ideas will be given to diners arriving at 11 a.m.

Hostesses and models are Mmes. Wayland Gillespie, Weslie C. Henrie, Paul Krienbring, Milo Lacy, T. A. Mitchell, Ernest Mock, A. W. Woodbury, V. Rojansky and Dale Easell. Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jack M. Hoxsey, 626-5707.

Kid gifts

Remember that children love playing grown up and reality play is an essential way to learn about and relate to the adult world. Toys like the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant playscape, that resemble a part of the community help broaden a child's awareness of the outside world. These toys also heighten his understanding of his relationship to that world and encourage a more active role when he is faced with real situations.

Photos of Loch Ness monster?

'It will electrify the world'

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A researcher has shown a photographic slide of a rust-colored object purported to be the legendary Loch Ness monster. The object appeared to have two front appendages, a long neck and a head.

The slide showing was the latest in a series of revelations both in the United States and Great Britain in recent weeks concerning a group of pictures taken underwater by an American photographic team last June at Loch Ness in Scotland.

The team was headed by Boston patent attorney Robert Rines, who is also dean at the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord. He showed the slide to a group of about 50 students and friends Wednesday night.

The slide depicted an object with distinct features, including the frontal appendages, a trunk Rines said was 12 feet broad and a neck Rines said was 8 to 10 feet long.

"We think it will electrify the world," Rines said.

He said there were other, clearer photographs, some of which were shot at the considerably closer range of 4 feet. He said the monster was "looking right at us with its mouth open."

Rines showed the slide in Concord two days after an announcement was made in London that a scientific symposium scheduled for Dec. 9 and 10 to see Rines' pictures was canceled because of what the sponsors called excessive publicity in Britain.

First word of Rines' discovery and photos came on Nov. 22 in a copyright story in the Boston Globe. Since then, a number of scientists, who have seen one or more of the pictures, have commented publicly. Most have praised the clarity of the pictures.

Wednesday night's showing of one of the slides was the first to a lay audience. Rines said the slide was taken by an underwater camera at a depth of 45 feet with a strobe light.

He said other slides taken by the same camera were of much better quality, but that he did not want to show them because of obligations to scientists in England, presumably the sponsors of the symposium.

Rines was angered by the publicity given the photographs, particularly in the British press, and had asked that the description of the slide shown Wednesday night not be made public.

A spokesman for Rines emphasized in a telephone interview that Rines and other members of the Academy of Applied Science — the Boston group which undertook the Loch Ness photographic expedition — was leaving it up to the scientific community to determine exactly what the objects photographed are.

Earlier pictures taken by Rines in 1972 and shown Wednesday night showed a blurred diamond-shaped object that appeared to be fins or the end of a tail. But those pictures — unlike the 1975 photograph — were too hazy to make out clearly.

Rines, explaining the 1975 photographic procedures, said his expedition set up a fast speed camera and strobe system 85 feet under the water of the Loch Ness, the lake which cuts a 25-mile gash through the Scottish highlands, in hopes of catching the elusive and often reported "monster" on film.

But, Rines said, the film from that system turned up blank because silt from the lake's murky waters had blocked the lights. Two months after the first film was developed, the researchers began developing film from a secondary photographic system — the same system used in 1972 — which had been shooting at an upward angle continuously every 1.2 seconds from a depth of 45 feet.

British naturalist Sir Peter Scott, who has seen the complete set of Rines pictures, announced in London on Monday the cancellation of the symposium of eminent scientists who were to examine the photos.

The decison, "in no sense reflects in the smallest degree on the nature of the evidence or the integrity of those who obtained it," said Scott, chancellor of Birmingham University.

Scott told reporters shortly after word of the photos leaked last month that the Rines photographs helped convince him the Loch Ness monster is a living prehistoric reptile which may be 40 feet long.

This week, Prof. Herbert J. Howe, a Purdue University paleontologist, said he believed the monster may be a prehistoric reptile dating 70 million years. He said the Rines photographs may reveal the monster is a plesiosaur or ichthyosaur, types of reptiles believed extinct for more than 50 million years.

Sightings of a Loch Ness monster have been reported as far back as 656 A.D. A modern wave of sightings began in 1934 shortly after a new road was built along the northern shore of the lake. Numerous attempts have been made to photograph the alleged monster. A number of expeditions went into the depths of the lake in small submarines.

One fellow, theorizing that the monster might be lonely, even built a fake monster in an attempt to lure Nessie into a romantic interlude, but Nessie never surfaced.

She got the info on Jordan

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Janie Hubschman wanted information on the nation of Jordan. So, she asked the man who would know.

King Hussein's reply was to the point: a round trip ticket and an invitation to see his Middle East country.

"I was shocked," said 15-year-old Janie after returning from Jordan this week. She was accompanied on the two-week visit by her father.

The escapade started with a school assignment last spring. In May, Janie received a telephone call.

"A special aide to the king phoned me from Palm Beach (Fla.) where the king was visiting at the time," she said.

The next four months was spent in correspondence between the Royal Palace in Amman and the Hubschman home.

"I really didn't believe I was going until I got a ticket in my hand," she said.

Janie never met Hussein or the aide who arranged the trip.

"It was a pretty busy time when we arrived there, even after all the planning," she said.

But the king left at their disposal a military car and a driver, who was their guide.

"No one knew why we were over there, but no matter where we stopped, they took the time to explain whatever they were doing to us," Miss Hubschman said.

"One thing that really surprised me was how freely the Jordanians and the Israelis go back and forth across the border. One of the Jordanians we came in contact with said, 'We are at war but when it comes to money or business there's no real hassle.'"

OMEGA Ω
CONSTELLATION CHRONOMETERS

OMEGA INTRODUCES THE TOTAL CHRONOMETER LOOK. FOR CHRONOMETERS.

Omega reasoned that since an Omega Chronometer is more than an ordinary watch, it should have a distinct look of its own—balanced and precise, just like the chronometer inside.

That's why the Omega Constellation Chronometer flows so very smoothly from case to band and back again. The Constellation is a completely integrated design, inside and out, all around. The case is carved out of a solid block of metal (18 karat gold or stainless steel), then finished by hand. Each link of the band is precisely contoured and fitted to the next, so that the overall look is one of perfect harmony.

Take a good look at the Omega Constellation. It's a good way to tell a total chronometer from a watch.

David Lilienthal says

Models of past inappropriate to resuscitate United States

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The models of the past, said David Lilienthal, are inappropriate to the "resuscitation" of America after what he terms a serious illness — a period of recession and indecision and inaction, public and private.

This is the opinion of the man who headed the Tennessee Valley Authority, which had its origins in the economically troubled New Deal days of the 1930s, and which is today the nation's largest resources development project.

"It's a different country today," he said. In his opinion, the nation is stalled, somewhat dispiritied, descriptions that were also applied to it in the 1930s, but there are immense differences too.

"Today, the centers of human energy and imagination are widely scattered," he said. "Our sources of energy of all kinds are dispersed. We have multiple sources of strength. The future of America is one of diversity rather than concentration."

In short, Lilienthal urges Americans to look to themselves, to their private organizations, to local leaders, rather than to the bureaucracies of big government or big business which, he feels, may have forgotten their mission.

"It isn't because of the size of big business that I am afraid," he said. "It is the centralization of decision making. It has dampened the initiative and managerial skills within the units," he said. "In centralized decision making, bigness defeats itself."

Lilienthal has faith in diversity. "In the smaller units of a big company is where you find the resourcefulness, the energy, the imagination. Energizing leadership isn't to be found in one place; it is diffused."

He continued: "It's no accident the railroads are bankrupt. This is the conclusion of a lack of spreading the decision making. The great moguls dried up their sources of energy and inventiveness."

Leadership is not centralized, he repeated. "There is more leadership in local communities than in Washington or New York or other centers of corporate or government activity, and there always has been."

The centralization of American industry, "the decision making and leadership within big companies," is the next step in reviving the spirit of entrepreneurship," he said.

But the leadership, he reiterates, must come from private efforts. He sees special opportunities ahead for companies structured in private enterprise involving themselves in public service — at a profit.

"A demonstration of furthering the public interest through private efforts will do as much to restore public confidence that has been shaken in government as about any other single thing," Lilienthal said.

His own company, Development and Resources Corp., is a model of that. Founded 20 years ago, after Lilienthal left the chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission, it is a profit-making concern that tackles large scale, integrated, natural and human resource development throughout the world.

It has developed an entire province of Iran.

Tejon Ranch, for instance

California farmers are becoming executives in pinstripes

By BILL SAUL
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the space of a few generations, the business of agriculture has traded its denims-and-straw-hat image for executive pinstripes and offices in gleaming highrise buildings.

In the same time, California's largest piece of real estate under private ownership — the Tejon Ranch — has undergone a 100-year metamorphosis from sleepy cowpasture to a holding with virtually unmatched variety in economic assets.

This model of modern agribusiness comes complete with a board of directors, gross operating revenues approaching $20 million for 1975, a four-color annual report and an American Stock Exchange listing.

Clayton Frye Jr., senior assistant to Laurance S. Rockefeller, is a member of the board. Howard Leach is board president.

Raised in the Salinas Valley, educated at Yale and the Stanford Business School, Leach says of his background: "I decided that it qualified me to be a farmer."

The holding he oversees covers 450 square miles, an area nearly half the size of Rhode Island and 10 times the size of San Francisco.

The Tejon Ranch covers an expanse of Kern County's San Joaquin Valley floor, includes rugged Tehachapi terrain, and slopes into Los Angeles County at its southern tip.

The property sits astride the Interstate 5 "grapevine" route linking the Los Angeles Basin and the fertile valley.

"Tejon is a truly unique piece of real estate," Leach says of the property.

"There is no other contiguous private land holding with this mix of economic activities anywhere in the world."

The pinstripe farmer said in an interview that the company and its affiliated operations employ about 500 persons, a "relatively small" agribusiness operation.

The Tejon offices are in the Westwood business district of Los Angeles behind heavy, dark-grained doors which bear brass fittings molded into the trademark cross-crescent brand.

About 80 miles to the north, some 13,000 head of cattle graze on the Tejon, oil wells pump a steady stream of income into the firm, a cement plant feeds on Tejon limestone deposits, and the subsidiary Tejon Agricultural Partners exploit its rich alluvial soil.

Leach said the firm's philosophy is to carry on its business in separate units, so possible reversals in one area won't jeopardize the entire property.

He oversees activities of the firm's livestock, farming, oil and mineral, seed and commercial divisions, each expected to stand on its own with separate lines of credit.

"We prefer the longterm, patient approach," he said.

The Tejon Ranch is named for the badger, a tough burrowing animal with a reputation for being fierce when cornered. The name bears out the Tejon attitude for survival as one of the few remaining large ranches prevalent in California 100 years ago.

In the 1850s, Gen. Edward F. Beale bought large Spanish land grants which became the foundation for the modern holding.

He and his agents bought land surrounding the grants to form the Tejon, some of it for as little as five cents an acre. In 1912 the ranch was sold to a group which converted to corporate form in 1936 with the issuance of stock.

Since Beale's era, the property has become a vital link in California's economy, crisscrossed with lines of the Southern California Gas Co., Southern California Edison, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and the California Aqueduct.

After Beale was appointed first superintendent of Indian Affairs for California and Nevada in 1852, he drew up plans for what became the nation's reservation system for its native Indians.

Ft. Tejon on the grapevine was established to support his policy, but when Indians from surrounding areas were removed to Northern California reservations, Beale allowed those on the ranch property to remain.

Only a few descendants of those Indians remain on the Tejon today. They are gone, like most of the tenant farmers who tilled Tejon soil until formation of the Tejon Agriculturan Partners in 1972.

The TAP operation, a major arm of the Tejon Ranch Co., is geared mostly to "permanent" crops like grapes, almonds, figs, citrus fruits, pistachio nuts and walnuts. TAP is under the leadership of J. Leigh Heath, who explained that a characteristic of Tejon crops is their potential for mechanical harvest, a trait which reduces the risk of loss through labor disputes, work stoppages and manpower shortages.

"If I had to sum it up," said Heath, a veteran of 28 years in the business, "I'd have to say that today's farming can take people from any discipline — lawyers, accountants, chemists, mechanics — and use them."

But at the top of the food chain, the products of which take 16 to 17 per cent of the average family's income, sits the pinstripe farmer, a breed more comfortable in dark felt homburg than sweat-stained summer straw.

Experiences of immigrant in music

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Italian composer Gian-Carlo Menotti, who made his home in the United States for nearly half a century, is putting his early impressions of scenes and life in this country as experienced by a young immigrant into a 10-part cantata for large chorus, orchestra and quartet of vocal soloists.

The work will have its world premiere May 14 in the Uihlein Hall of the Milwaukee Performing Arts Center by the Bel Canto Chorus of Milwaukee.

The Menotti autobiography in music, titled "Landscapes and Remembrances," was commissioned by the chorus with the aid of a $25,000 gift from John Atwood, a former Wisconsinite, now president and chairman of Atwood Oceanics of Houston.

The chorus will perform the work later at the Spoleto Festival in Italy.

British people plagued with medical slowdown

LONDON (AP) — A surgeon saved a woman's life by operating on her virtually single-handed after the surgical team at his hospital said their eight-hour day was over.

A truck driver with a broken foot drove around northwest London in pain for three hours looking for a hospital that would take him in. Three said they were not handling casualties. The fourth he visited rushed him into the accident ward.

A London ambulance crew drove around London with an injured man for an hour before it found a hospital where doctors would examine him.

Another ambulance crew hauled the body of an accident victim around for an hour before they found a doctor to certify the death.

St. Bartholomew's, London's oldest and most famous hospital, is turning away 100 patients a day because its skeleton staff of doctors and nurses cannot treat them, a spokesman said.

These were just a few of the incidents this week as Britain's National Health Service, the state-run system of socialized medicine, struggled with a weekold slowdown by half the service's 19,000 junior hospital doctors refusing to work more than a basic 40-hour week.

The junior doctors, backbone of the hospital staffs, are protesting the Labor government's new pay contract. They claim that although it means they get overtime pay after 44 hours instead of 80, it provides no pay increase, and the overtime payments are spread so thin many of them actually lose money.

Some 5,000 of the 11,000 specialists who work in both the health service hospitals and private practice have also curtailed their hospital activity by handling only emergencies. They are supporting the younger doctors and pressing their own fight against the government's plans to phase out private medicine.

Health service authorities declined to specify how many of their hospitals are affected by the slowdown. But officials in London reported 24 of the 67 hospitals that normally take casualties are either closed or operating only during the day.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a crisis conference with leaders of the medical profession Wednesday shortly after he returned to London from the Common Market summit merting in Rome. The conference broke up with no sign of any breakthrough and a statement that said: "Both sides feel the discussions have been valuable."

The health service, founded in 1948 to provide mostly free medical care for all Britons, was already in deep trouble before the doctors launched their slowdown. It suffers from increasing shortages of money, trained staff and equipment; bureacratic chaos, complex political squabbles and deteriorating morale.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE INVITING BIDS FOR CASH CONTRACT NO. 4503 PUDDINGSTONE DRIVE

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the Road Commissioner of the County of Los Angeles, in Room 180, 1540 Alcazar Street, Los Angeles, California 90033, until 9:30 a.m. on December 23, 1975; and then will be publicly opened and read in Room 193 at the above address for the construction of curb, gutter, base and pavement, fence work, drainage structures, removals, earthwork, and other incidental and appurtenant work estimated to cost less than $325,000 all in accordance with the provisions of the Plans, Specifications, Notices and Instructions to Bidders therefor which are on file and open for inspection at the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the County Road Department.

The Engineer may, from time to time and without Board approval, issue addenda to the contract documents during the period of advertising for bids for the following purposes: (a) revising Prevailing Wage Scales, (b) clarifying or correcting special provisions, plans or bid proposal; provided, however, that any such addenda shall not change the original scope and intent of the project.

Purchasers of contract documents shall be notified and furnished with copies of such addenda, either by certified mail or personal delivery, during the period of advertising.

Proposal must be submitted on forms prepared and furnished for the purpose, which may be obtained at the Information Desk in the lobby of the Los Angeles County Road Department Administration Building, 1540 Alcazar Street, Los Angeles, California 90033 at which office bidders may also purchase copies of the Plans and Specifications for the contemplated work for the price of $7.08 plus Sales Tax per set, not refundable. A mail address and a phone number must be left at the aforementioned office which the prospective bidder agrees is sufficient to reach him.

Each submitted proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, or a surety bond, payable to the County of Los Angeles in an amount equivalent to at least ten (10) percent of the total aggregate bid price of such proposal, as a guaranty that the bidder, if his proposal be accepted, will enter into and execute the awarded contract, and furnish the required bonds in connection therewith, in accordance with the terms of the aforementioned Specifications and Instructions to Bidders. In the event that a surety bond is submitted in lieu of a check, it shall be subject to the condition that the surety thereon be approved by the County Auditor and County Counsel.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive technical errors and discrepancies, if to do so seems to best serve the interests of the County.

Pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1770 to 1777, inclusive, of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the proposed contract, and it will be required that not less than said rates be paid to all such workmen employed or engaged on the work. Complete wage rate schedules are on file at the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the County Road Department.

The rate of compensation for any classification not listed in the schedule, but which may be required to execute the proposed contract, shall be commensurate and in accord with the rates specified for similar or comparable classifications or for those performing similar or comparable duties.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS: Bidders must satisfy themselves by personal examination of location of the proposed work and by such other means as they may prefer as to the actual conditions and requirements of the work, and shall not at any time after submission of the bid dispute, complain, or assert that there was any misunderstanding in regard to the nature or amount of work to be done.

The contractor to whom this contract is awarded will be required, before execution of the contract by the County Board of Supervisors, to file with the County Board of Supervisors surety bonds as follows:

A "Faithful Performance Bond" amounting to 100% of the total contract price is required for all contracts.

A "Payment Bond" (labor and material) amounting to 50% of the total contract price is required for all contracts which have a total contract price in excess of $10,000.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

Spartans set for CIF clash tonight

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Damien High is only two wins away from becoming the first San Antonio League school reach the CIF 3-A football finals since Bonita did the trick back in 1969.

The Spartans know it's not going to be easy.

The first of those two wins will have to come tonight, as Damien plays host to Garden Grove High at the Mt. San Antonio College stadium. Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m. in the 3-A quarterfinal matchup.

Garden Grove has been something of a surprise team in the late going of the season. The Argonauts under head coach Dick Campbell lost two of their first three games of the year, but are currently riding an eight-game winning streak.

The Argos upset Pacifica 17-3 to nail down a co-championship in the Garden Grove League, knocked off Norwalk 28-16 in their playoff opener, and last week stunned a highly regarded El Modena squad 19-10.

Damien has looked sharp in easing past two CIF playoff opponents of its own, but neither of those (Arlington and Lompoc) was quite as impressive size or talent-wise as Garden Grove.

"They're big, hard-nosed kids who are very aggressive," notes Spartan coach Dick Larson when talking about Garden Grove. "Offensively, they have a balanced attack, with three good runners and a quarterback who can pass pretty well."

It's easy to see why the aggressive Argos have impressed Larson.

They have some fine talent, including two big linebackers on defense and have been able to generate a consistent attack on offense after the rocky start to their season.

Leading that defense have been linebackers Mark Fata (6-0, 218) and Phil Hart (6-1, 215). That unit shut out El Modena in the second half last week, and also forced two big turnovers which were converted into touchdowns in the playoff win.

DAMIEN (10-1)
16 San Dimas	0
42 Duarte	14
15 Upland	14
9 Pomona	8
36 Montclair	6
40 Ganesha	34
32 Garey	0
33 Claremont	7
10 Chino	21
21 Arlington	6
20 Lompoc	6

GARDEN GROVE (9-2)
0 Miraleste	3
48 Saddleback	0
16 Rancho Alamitos	19
14 Santiago	13
21 LaQuinta	12
12 Rubidoux	0
9 Bosa Grande	6
17 Pacifica	3
21 Los Amigos	17
28 Norwalk	16
19 El Modena	10

The Argonaut defensive eleven has yet to allow more than two TDs in a contest this year, so the Spartans will be hard-pressed to move the ball consistently on offense.

Garden Grove also has a talented offensive eleven led by senior quarterback Jon Harmon. Harmon hasn't pass that often this fall but last week clicked on six of eight aerials good for all three TDs in the Argos' victory.

Harmon is also regarded as a dangerous runner, as are his backfield mates Mike Gilmore and Curtis Hansen.

The Spartans, losers only to Chino so far this season, seem to have had one big advantage over other foes so far this year. That has been their bench strength.

Coach Larson has used several players at the running back positions, and all have done a good job. Tailback Ruben Lopez has been the top ground gainer for the Spartans, but fullback Leo Burke is usually the man that Larson goes to in crucial short yardage situations.

Dennis Gainey has also run well out of the backfield, as has Jim Torrance. Quarterback Carroll can also scamper, although he has not done a great deal of running yet this year.

Larson also has good depth at the wide receiver slots.

Steve Gaston, Joe Repar and Rick Davis have all caught their share of passes this year, while Torrance has also doubled as a wide receiver in certain situations.

Larson even has a "spare" place kicker in junior Brian Sullivan, who has been effective on PATs this year while spelling Davis at that duty. Both Sullivan and Davis are effective field goal specialists, one phase of the game where the Spartans have the clear edge over Garden Grove in tonight's clash. Joe Florin does the place kicking for the Argos.

"We've had kids come off the bench to fill in for players who were either hurt or ill and play very well," Larson pointed out. "Along with talent, it's also nice to have depth, too."

The rest of the Damien offensive starting lineup, in addition to Carroll, Lopez and Burke, will probably shape up as follows tonight: Wide receivers — Gaston, Davis and Repar; center — Tom Callison, guards — Dave Rodricks and Dave Flores; tackles — John Martain and Brad Davies.

On defense, the tentative Spartan starters look like this: Linemen — Felix Delgadillo, Chris Barela, Brian Faust, Hugo Cargnelutti and Sullivan; Linebackers — Greg Elias, Mike O'Neill and Art Delgado; Defensive backs — Terry Allen, Lorenzo Hearns, Mark Schlesinger and Davis.

The winner of tonight's contest will play the winner of the Villa Park-Santa Fe game in the 3-A semifinals next week. The championship game will be played Dec. 19.

PAUSE TO REFLECT

Former champ Ruben Olivares of Mexico waits for his head to clear after being knocked down by Danny Lopez. Olivares was down four times in losing by knockout to Lopez.

Little Red punches his way to title shot

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Youthful Danny "Little Red" Lopez, whose boxing career was headed downhill just a few months ago, was back in the big time money today with a probable chance at the world featherweight championship.

The 23-year-old redhead from suburban Alhambra climbed back into the spotlight with a crushing knockout over the former two-time 126-pound world titleholder, Ruben Olivares of Mexico City.

Lopez put Olivares away after 1 minute, 59 seconds of the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder Thursday night after an explosive brawl in which five knockdowns were recorded.

Olivares hit the deck four times, three in the first rwo rounds, and the last time found him crawling on his hands and knees across the ring in a vain attempt to get up.

Lopez went down to start the excitement in the first round but it appeared to be a slip or a push.

The gamblers won and lost. They figured the fight would not go the limit. They also had Olivares the 10-8 favorite at ringside at the Forum.

The crowd of 9,084, which paid $102,261 for the event, alternately rocked the arena with shouts of "Mee-hee-cho" and "Danny Boy."

Lopez' dynamite right hand, which had stopped 26 of 27 opponents, made it 27 of 28.

Eighteen months ago Danny had won 23 fights in a row. Then, with a title fight at stake, he was stopped by Bobby Chacon. Chacon went on to win the World Boxing Association from Alfredo Marcon.

Lopez then lost two more matches in succession and his career was in doubt. His comeback includes three straight wins and the showdown title opportunity against Olivares, who had his sights set on a third 126-pound championship.

Promoter Don Fraser hopes to match Lopez against the winner of the approaching encounter between the current World Boxing Council champion, David Kotey—who lifted it from Olivares—and Shig Fukuyama in Tokyo.

Lopez' record is now 28 wins and three losses. Olivares, a sensational draw here since he won his first title—the world bantamweight crown from Lionel Rose in 1969—is 78-7-1.

Cal's Muncie player of year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The University of California's Chuck Muncie, one of three All-American backs in the Pacific-8 this season, today was named the conference's Player of the Year.

The head football coaches in the Pac-8 selected the versatile Cal tailback for the award, choosing him over fellow All-American team members Ricky Bell of Southern California and John Sciarra of UCLA.

Muncie, a senior, broke Jackie Jensen's Cal single-season rushing record with 1,492 yards this year.

The Pacific-8 Player of the Year award is being presented for the first time this year. It is sponsored by Fidelity Union Life Insurance Co.

UC Riverside quits on football program

Progress Bulletin
Sports
Pomona, California ■ Friday, December 5, 1975

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

The California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) is looking for football-playing members.

Thursday's announcement by UC Riverside that it is dropping its intercollegiate football program stunned the CCAA officials at the autumn meetings on the Cal Poly Pomona campus.

UCR's decision was especially shocking considering the Highlanders have won the past two CCAA championships with perfect records in league play.

Insufficient gate receipts were cited by UCR Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker. Grants-in-aid to football players will be continued through the school year and Coach Bob Toledo and his staff will remain on contract until July 1, 1976.

While UCR intends to remain in the CCAA in the other sports, the conference's football outlook has been severely damaged.

Riverside's action leaves only four football members for 1976 and one of them — Cal State Los Angeles — is deemphasizing its program. That leaves Cal Poly Pomona, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Cal State Northridge.

Cal State Bakersfield, the CCAA's sixth member, still does not have a football program and there is little indication when the school will start.

"We were shocked to hear the news today from Riverside," was the reaction of Dr. Victor Buccola, the president of the CCAA and the athletic director at SLO.

"I'm really sorry Riverside is taking this action," he continued. "I felt Riverside was almost over the hill in its football program and ready to earn the community support it needed."

Dr. Buccola said the CCAA will appoint a committee to actively solicit new members.

One possibility is Cal Lutheran. There is also the chance of getting together with the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, which is dropping to five football-playing members with San Diego State pulling out for bigger things.

Cal State Los Angeles presents another problem.

John Hermann, the CSLA athletic director, said his school is dropping scholarships for football and adopting a tuition-and-fee financial arrangement. He added Cal State will be modifying its football schedules.

Cal Poly Pomona football coach Andy Vinci was also shocked by the news.

"I would feel this will kill the conference," he said. "You can't have a league with four schools. It would be better to become an independent for football."

One of Vinci's first moves will be to contact the UCR players, who are free to transfer anywhere they want to continue their collegiate careers.

"I'm going to get a bus and load it with players," Vinci added.

Economics is Riverside's big reason for the action.

Football at UCR was budgeted at $165,000 with $125,000 for operating expenses and $40,000 for grants-in-aid to the athletes.

Despite a 7-3 overall record and a 4-0 mark in the CCAA this year, UCR attracted only 15,475 fans to four home games.

"I finally came to the conclusion that much more campus and community support was needed," Dr. Hinderaker said. "Without some kind of gate-receipt foundation, it is just impossible to make it work."

"Despite exciting and successful football teams the past four years and with the NCAA Division II's leading passer (Dan Hayes) and receiver (Butch Johnson) this season, gate receipts contributed an insignificant amount to our football budget."

The Riverside chancellor also mentioned the desire to maintain the other men's athletic programs plus the added cost of women's sports.

Winless Bruins make home debut

By Associated Press

It's been a mighty long time since writers could start off their basketball stories with the words, "Winless UCLA..."

But that's the case tonight as the defending national champion Bruins open their home season tonight against San Jose State. The home court advantage and UCLA's potent front line make the Bruins heavy favorites to even the record to 1-1.

The new era of Coach Gene Bartow didn't start out particularly auspiciously last weekend when UCLA lost 84-64 to the nation's top-ranked team, Indiana. Stanford, also, has a new coach but Dick DiBiaso is 1-1 after a 94-70 triumph over Nevada-Reno and a 70-67 loss to Santa Clara.

The Cardinals also have a Friday night game, this one against talent-laden University of San Francisco, ranked No. 12 in the nation.

Washington, still unbeaten this young season at 2-0, travels to Wyoming for a game. And Southern California, also 2-0, travels to Nashville, Tenn., for a first-round game against Vanderbilt in the Vanderbilt Tournament.

UC Santa Barbara, 1-1 after a defeat at the hands of USF, takes on Boise State Friday night. The University of Pacific, also 1-1, plays host to Brigham Young in the home opener for the Tigers.

In other games, Portland State is at Oregon State, Santa Clara plays in the Sun Devil Classic at Arizona State, Pepperdine hosts its own Pepperdine Classic and Doane of Crete, Neb., is at UC Riverside.

The Bruin-San Jose State affair brings the Spartans into Pauley Pavilion, where UCLA has won 81 straight games. Coach Ivan Guevara's team features 6-foot-8 center Ron Fair and 6-5 Earl Hogue as well as 6-4 guard Rick Quinn.

The Bruins looked a bit disorganized against Indiana last week, and the only bright spots were center-forward Richard Washington's 12-for-21 shooting and 28 points and forward Marques Johnson's 7-for-14 and 18.

USC's chances in the Vanderbilt Tourney appear strong on the basis of the Trojans' top performances in beating Loyola 94-77 and St. Mary's 89-62.

Koufax No. 1 Dodger—fans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There is no doubt who is first in the hearts and minds of Los Angeles Dodger fans. It's Sandy Koufax.

The team said a vote of fans during the 1975 season for the "most memorable personality" in Los Angeles Dodger history produced a landslide for the left-handed pitcher.

Garey looks like the team to beat again

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

It looks like its going to be Garey High against the world this year in San Antonio League basketball, and Viking coach Mike Wells does not dislike that thought.

The Vikings made a shambles of the San Antonio League last season and went on to capture the CIF 3-A cage championship, even though playing without ace scorer Delbert McDonald in the final playoff contest.

McDonald has graduated, as have last year's starters Billy Evans, Sonny Baldez and David Larry. So Wells' Vikings figure to be down this year, right?

Wrong!

Wells will have the services of two of last year's finest, Gary Carpenter and Kent Jordan, back this fall in addition to some outstanding supporting talent.

The raves are already starting to come in for the Viking five, in spite of the fact the squad has not played a game yet this year. The L.A. Times ranked Garey sixth in their initial CIF basketball poll, which includes all levels of CIF competition. Garey was the lone 3-A school to be rated in the Top Ten.

The Times also tabbed Garey as the top 3-A team, a ranking most observers would not quarrel with.

How is coach Wells reacting to all this pre-season drum-beating? Well, you get the feeling he is enjoying it . . . to a certain extent.

"It's a little early to start tossing around number one labels," noted the Viking skipper, "but I'm not going to kid anybody. Sure, we have a fine team and the potential is there to go all the way once again.

"I told this year's group of players that last season's glory is over now. If they want to duplicate it, they have to go out and earn it. We're not going to beat anyone by waving our CIF pennant around."

Wells does admit that the Vikings will have to guard against over-confidence, especially in the early part of the season.

Garey, which opens the campaign tonight at Downey in a 7 p.m. encounter, has had some problems in the pre-season, but they are not mental, they've been physical.

Both Carpenter and Jordan suffered injuries trying to round into shape this fall, Carpenter having pulled a ligament in his leg and Jordan having incurred a chipped bone in his wrist. The leg injury to Carpenter has hindered his progress at this point and Wells says the big 6-foot-5 forward might not get much playing time in the early going.

Jordan's injury has affected his shooting, although Wells will leave the star of last year's CIF 3-A championship game in the lineup and hope the wrist does not affect Jordan a great deal.

Another guy who figured to start for the Vikes this year, guard Stanley Webster, broke his kneecap in football and may be slow to return to form, although he has practiced with the team.

Despite the injuries, no one is selling Garey short, or at least they better not be.

"Yeah, we have more than our share of bumps and bruises right now," Wells admitted. "I figure we are a little down from what last year's team was at this point, due to the injuries and lack of proper conditioning and practice time.

"But I will say this," he continued. "Our players are ready to go mentally and have the will power to win. No team better come at us "jiving around" or we will run 'em off the court.

"I imagine everyone will be up for us this time around, and that's how it should be."

Wells' optimism seems to be well-founded. In addition to the still-healing Carpenter, Jordan and Webster, the Viking coach feels he has a more than capable center in James Loftin and a fine guard candidate in Ricky Scott.

In addition, as though the Garey cage program needed any help, the Vikings will have the services of 6-foot-3 forward Greg Snyder this year. Snyder, rated by Wells as extremely talented, super quick and a fine jumper, is a transfer from Pittsburgh, Pa. where he starred as a prep cager last year as a sophomore.

It might be assumed that the rest of the SAL will throw in the towel and battle it out for second place, but several teams look improved at this point from last year and will make things interesting for the Vikings.

Damien, under coach Bill Roberts, ran up an 18-8 record last winter and returns all its starters save one from that squad.

Missing from the Spartan fold is John Pignotti, who has graduated.

Roberts does have some of the top returning talent in the SAL, however, in forwards Mike Wetenkamp and Jon Kolodge and guard Bill Duffy.

Roberts also has two 6-foot-6 athletes in Ralf Paspar and Howard Penwitt. These two, coupled with Wetenkamp (6-foot-3), Kolodge (6-foot-4) and Duffy (6-foot-4), give the Spartans one of the tallest starting units in the valley.

Damien, a narrow 69-67 loser to Walnut in its cage debut this week, will be back on the hardboards Saturday at home against Victor Valley (8 p.m.).

Claremont, with super soph center Derek Britton (6-foot-7) and senior forward Rob Fossum (6-foot-4) might

Sports briefs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The East's squad for the 51st Shrine East-West Game grew to 22 football players Thursday with the addition of eight stars from the Big Ten.

The players are offensive tackle Dennis Lick and defensive back Steve Wagner of Wisconsin, running back Mike Pruitt and defensive tackle Ken Novak of Purdue, offensive tackle Rod Walters of Iowa, defensive end Keith Simon of Minnesota, offensive guard Stu Levenick and running back Lonnie Perrin of Illinois.

The game will be played Jan. 3 at Stanford Stadium.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers are looking into playing a preseason National Football League game at Tempe, Ariz., says General Manager Harland Svare.

But Svare said Wednesday he doesn't believe his team will agree.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Oakland Raiders reportedly have agreed to appear in the 51,000-seat Arizona State University stadium.

In recent weeks, a rumor has been bandied about that San Diego may move its NFL team to the Phoenix area but Svare denied it.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Peter Daland, who coached Southern California's swimming team to the NCAA indoor championships this year, has received the Amateur Athletic Union's 1975 Swimming Award.

Daland was honored Thursday at the AAU's 88th annual convention here. Previous winners of the award include Olympic gold medal winner Mark Spitz.

Under Daland the Trojans also won the 1975 national AAU swimming championships.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Wichita State University ended two years on probation with the Missouri Valley conference Thursday, conference headquarters announced.

The Shockers were placed on probation with sanctions in 1973 following charges of illegal recruiting practices and improper inducements.

The removal, approved by athletic directors of the conference, allows Wichita State to be eligible for the conference basketball championship this season.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Wives of players from the Charlotte Hornets of the defunct World Football League were among the customers as the team's helmets, jerseys and sweat socks went on sale.

Thursday's sale was held to raise money to help pay off creditors. The Hornets and the rest of the WFL went out of business Oct. 22, leaving a stack of bills.

Jon Anderson, Hornet business manager, said there were about 90 jerseys at $20 apiece, some 60 helmets for $25 apiece, as well as pants, jerseys, shoes and socks.

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra, former manager of the New York Yankees and Mets, has been added to the coaching staff of the Yanks.

The Associated Press reported on Aug. 21, 16 days after Berra was fired as the Mets' manager, that he would return to the Yankees as a coach.

The Yankees have called a news conference for Friday to make the official announcement. Berra will rejoin Manager Billy Martin. They were teammates on the Yankees years ago.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Kubek has signed a multi-year contract to handle color commentary for NBC major league baseball telecasts, the network announced Thursday.

Ford sparks N.C.

By Associated Press

Listen to Dean Smith and you get the idea that Phil Ford is the best guard in America. Watch Phil Ford and you get the idea that it may be true.

"I can't think of a better backcourtman in the country," the North Carolina coach said after Ford drove his fourth-ranked Tar Heels to a 75-63 college basketball victory over Seton Hall Thursday night. "Ford runs my offense as well as any guard that ever played in the Atlantic Coast Conference."

The apple of Smith's eye scored 27 points, handed out 10 assists and directed the Tar Heel machine with poise.

"I couldn't say that Ford was the best guard in the country last year," Smith said. "He wasn't as good a shooter as he is this year. He worked all summer on his shooting and has really come along. He has tremendous quickness and he's now taking the proper shot selection."

North Carolina's super sophomore was almost upstaged by Seton Hall's Greg Tynes, another 6-1 guard. Tynes scored 23 points for the New Jersey team, keeping the stubborn Pirates within shooting range of the Tar Heels most of the game.

"Seton Hall played much better than I expected," said Smith. "Tynes played tremendously well—as did Ford. They couldn't hold each other."

The game was the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. In the second game, Rutgers beat Purdue 81-73.

In other games around the country, Austin Peay crushed Armstrong State 101-63; Penn State beat Delaware 66-61; Drake smashed Mankato State 99-78; Mississippi State turned back Chicago State 113-81; George Washington University whipped William and Mary 76-69; Centenary defeated Northwestern Louisiana 82-67; South Florida nipped Old Dominion 77-76; West Texas downed Southwestern Texas 77-63; St. Mary's shaded Tulsa 73-69; California stopped Idaho State 76-65; the University of Pacific turned back Brigham Young 71-66 and Air Force defeated Regis 78-70.

NHL roundup

Schultz earns his pay

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Maybe Dave Schultz wants Chicago Coach Billy Reay to get his name straight.

Schultz scored two first-period goals Thursday night to boost the Philadelphia Flyers to a 5-2 National Hockey League victory over the Black Hawks.

In other NHL games Thursday night, Montreal stopped St. Louis 4-1, Boston edged Washigton 3-2, the New York Islanders crushed Pittsburgh 6-1 and the New York Rangers and Buffalo skated to a 6-6 tie.

But Reay, whose team had tied the Flyers in their two previous meetings this season, continued to voice his low opinion of the Philadelphia winger.

"It's the first time I've seen him earn his pay," Reay said after the game. "But I'm still not worried about him."

Reay has been saying for several seasons that Schultz lacks skill and fights too much. And to add to the insult, the coach refers to Schultz as "Schwartz."

Canadiens 4, Blues 1

Goals 55 seconds apart by Yvan Cournoyer and Murray Wilson highlighted a three-goal second period that boosted Montreal over St. Louis. The Canadiens now have won seven of their last eight games while St. Louis has dropped five straight. Pete Mahovlich and Doug Jarvis scored the other Montreal goals while Red Berenson spoiled Canadiens goalie Ken Dryden's bid for a shutout with an unassisted goal in the third period.

Rangers 6, Sabres 6

Rene Robert scored his second goal of the game with 6½ minutes remaining in the third period to lift Buffalo into its tie with the New York Rangers. Phil Esposito scored twice for New York. The Rangers took a 4-2 lead in the opening period, but Buffalo came back to tie it at 5-5 on Jerry Korab's 80-foot shot.

Bruins 3, Capitals 2

Al Sims scored twice in the third period to lift Boston to its victory over Washington. The frustrated Capitals had only 13 shots on goal, and only two in the final period. Ace Bailey gave Washington a first period lead before defenseman Sims tied it at 3:32 of the final period. He scored again at 11:09 to put Boston ahead, then John Bucyk scored what proved to be the winning goal. Bailey finished the scoring with his second goal of the night.

Islanders 6, Penguins 1

Two goals by Bill Harris led the New York Islanders to a rout of the Pittsburgh Penguins. Dennis Owchar, who tallied Pittsburgh's lone goal, later hurt his right hand in a third period fight and had to be taken from the game. Penguins center Pierre Larouche was hospitalized for a possible concussion after a second period injury. New York's other goals were scored by Garry Howatt, Ed Westfall, Bobby Nystrom and Clark Gilles.

Chris, Jimmy arrive to play 'Love Doubles'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billie Jean King and Marty Riessen meet Chris Evert and her one-time fiance Jimmy Connors here Saturday in a match dubbed the "Love Doubles."

The $150,000 challenge match, to be nationally televised, was worrying promoters. Ms. King and Riessen have been practicing most of the week, but Miss Evert and Connors gave no word on their expected arrival time and didn't get here until Thursday.

Caesars Palace officials, who are putting up the money for the event, were unable to reach the couple, who arrived after a press conference that had been called for the participants Thursday afternoon.

The pair practiced for the first time shortly after their arrival.

Though older than their competitors—Riessen celebrated his 34th birthday Thursday and Ms. King is also over 30—they are rated as favorities over the Connors-Evert combo, both in their 20s. Part of their rating edge comes from the pair's experience in doubles playing, while Connors and Miss Evert have concentrated on singles matches.

Neither Riessen nor Ms. King have been in competition since September, and both have been doggedly practicing on the indoor court at Caesars Palace, where they've run into some problems with the new surface in the 4,000-seat tennis pavilion. The surface keeps bunching up at the seams.

Promoters promised to have the problems fixed in time for the start of the match, scheduled at noon PST on CBS-TV.

Riessen and Ms. King said they could recall playing as doubles partners only once before, about seven years ago, and had never played against Connors and Miss Evert.

Ms. King, who has been battling a nagging cold, explained her basic strategy Thursday:

"In practice, I'll try to keep hustling and moving. The thing that might turn this match around is to hustle and run after a ball.

"We both play better when we're aggressive," she said. "We've got to get our first serves in and move in."

The winners of the best three out of five sets will get $100,000, plus a decision to make — whether to take up the challenge of John Newcombe and Margaret Court to play the victors.

The losers of Saturday's contest will split $50,000.

Youth cage program opens

The Pomona Park and Recreation Department has announced registration dates for their 1975-76 youth basketball program. Eight divisions for boys and girls, grades three through eight, have been planned.

Registration will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6 and 13 from 10 a.m. until noon at seven locations. Palomares, Emerson, Simons, Marshall and Fremont Junior high schools; Washington and Westmont Park Community Centers are sign-up sites.

A fee of $3 per participant is charged to cover the cost of a T-shirt uniform. Volunteer coaches are needed and encouraged to sign up during registration.

Four divisions have been established for the boys and girls alike. They are: eight graders, seventh graders, fifth-sixth graders, and; third-fourth graders.

All players are assigned to a team. Everyone must play a minimum of one quarter per game.

Following the registration on Dec. 13, a free throw contest will be held at each of the Junior High Schools listed above, in addition to Lorbeer Junior High. The event is co-sponsored by the Pomona Elks Lodge 789.

Should you have questions, check with the recreation leaders at the sign-up sites or call 620-2321.

Best says he hasn't signed with Aztecs

LONDON (AP) — Soccer star George Best says he has not signed with the Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League.

"They have jumped the gun," Best said here Thursday, referring to an Aztecs' announcement earlier this week that he had signed with the NASL team. "I have the forms for signing, but I have not yet completed them.

"I have other offers to consider and I am in the process of making up my mind."

The Los Angeles team had said that Best had signed a contract that was second largest only to the one that Pele signed with the NASL New York Cosmos. The Cosmos obtained Pele after failing to sign Best.

Rumors here were that the Cosmos plan to sue the Aztecs because of Best, but a Cosmos spokesman in New York denied it.

"If George Best signs with Los Angeles, we shall welcome him into the league," said Cosmos General Manager Clive Toye. "We have no intention whatsoever of trying to sue Los Angeles and have no hard feelings against George despite the hard times he gave us."

Best is under contract with Stockport County, an English Fourth Division team. There is wide speculation that Chelsea, an English Second Division club, and Stoke City, a First Division team, are after the former Irish international forward.

Best's contract with Stockport County expires Dec. 28 "when he will finally decide whether to accept the lucrative contracts he has been offered in the U.S. or stay in this country," wrote Kevin Moseley in the London Daily Mirror.

Moseley said that he understands Chelsea is "prepared to meet Best's $2,000 a game demand.

Webb out of tournament

Webb School lost to Pacific Christian, 44-39, Thursday in the Pasadena Poly tournament.

The loss was the second in the tourney for the Gauls, eliminating them from the event.

Fight results

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Danny "Little Red" Lopez, 125½, Los Angeles, knocked out Ruben Olivares, 127½, Mexico City, 7.

TOKYO — Guts Ishimatsu, Japan, knocked out Alvaro Rojas, Costa Rica, lightweights, 14, to retain his World Boxing Council crown.

McKay to pick aides from pro grid ranks

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — John McKay, recently named head coach of the expansion Tampa Bay Buccaneers, said Thursday all but two or three of his coaching assistants will come from within the ranks of the National Football League.

However, McKay declined to name any of the coaches until the NFL season officially ends.

Most of his assistants are on contending teams and are people he coached or worked with before they moved into the pros, McKay told a news conference.

While McKay didn't say how many assistants he will have when the expansion teams starts play next year, a Bucs' spokesman said there probably would be eight or nine.

McKay said one person he wouldn't be bringing to Florida is Dave Levy, his assistant at the University of Southern California.

McKay was here for his first Tampa visit since being named the Bucs' boss last month. He is expected to return to Los Angeles next week to get his Southern Cal team ready for the Dec. 22 Liberty Bowl in Memphis against either Texas A&M or Arkansas.

Hacienda cage preview

Walnut out to repeat

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Last year Walnut High cruised to a 14-0 record in copping the Hacienda League basketball title, but the Mustangs will be hardpressed to duplicate that unblemished mark this time around.

The Hacienda League seems to have better balance this season, with at least two clubs seemingly capable of giving defending champ Walnut a run for the money.

Coach Bill Murray's squad has lost via graduation all five of its starters from last season's 23-5 club, but the Mustangs have ruled the basketball standings of the H.L. in recent years and figure to be the favorite again this year.

Murray's squad opened the year with an impressive 69-67 win over a powerful Damien five and will be trying to make it two in a row tonight at 8 p.m. at Rowland.

Guard Kelly Bowlin, who played quite a bit last year as a junior, figures to give the Mustangs an experienced floor general. He will be joined in the backcourt by Andrea Edwards, a transfer from Bassett High.

Another transfer student, Eric Spindler, will give Walnut scoring punch, while Hans Meyer (6-foot-3) is expected to supply rebounding strength.

Murray is also very high on two sophomores, Pat Flaherty and Doug Vind. He feels these two will both see plenty of action as the season progresses.

Another player who was expected to be a starter, Alex Solorzano, is still out with an illness he first contracted during football season When he's healhty, the 6-foot-1 Solorzano is regarded as one of the top board men in the loop.

Walnut's closest competior in the league would figure to be Alta Loma. The Braves finished second in the loop last year with a 10-4 record and would up 18-9 on the year.

A.L. has already looked sharp in the early going, posting easy wins over La Sierra and Montclair. The Braves will be in action this evening at 8 p.m., hosting Upland.

Coach Jeff McCall's crew doesn't have any super stars but the Brave mentor probably has superior bench strength to any team in the league. Five returning lettermen will supply Alta Loma with that important experience factor. Topping that list is Anthony Vasquez, a starter last year as a junior. Center Rich Davis, only a junior, is one of the tallest players in the H.L. at 6-foot-8 and has shown flashes of brilliance so far in his varsity career.

Three other senior lettermen, Mark Reaves, Jamie Eagle and Pat Thomas, figure to see plenty of floor time, as do Don Lester and Danny Miller, both up from the J.V. squad.

Bonita is another team which might surprise. The Bearcats rebounded from a horrid 1-21 season in 1973-74 to post a 11-13 record (8-6 in league) last year.

This season coach Remi Tremblay is hoping for even bigger things, among them a Hacienda title and/or a CIF playoff berth. Returning vets Dave Drury, Scott Johnson and Steve Sly will lead the way.

Johnson, now a senior, is in his fourth year as a varsity performer for the Bearcats, so he certainly does not lack experience. Drury and Sly are also seniors.

Also expected to help out are Keith Brandt, Steve Benoit, Aaron Bitran and Mike Sears.

Bonita will make its 1975-76 varsity debut Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. when the Bearcats host Temple City.

San Dimas posted a disappointing 7-14 record last year but no one is counting veteran coach Bob Espinoza's team out quite yet.

The Saints have already dropped two games in the early going but are expected to be tough once the league play starts, esepcially after facing some awesome foes in their own Tourney of Champions coming up later this month.

Returnees Mike Shepherd and Al Hanson are both on the small side at 5-foot-9 and 5-foot-7 respectively, but both can shoot and have good moves.

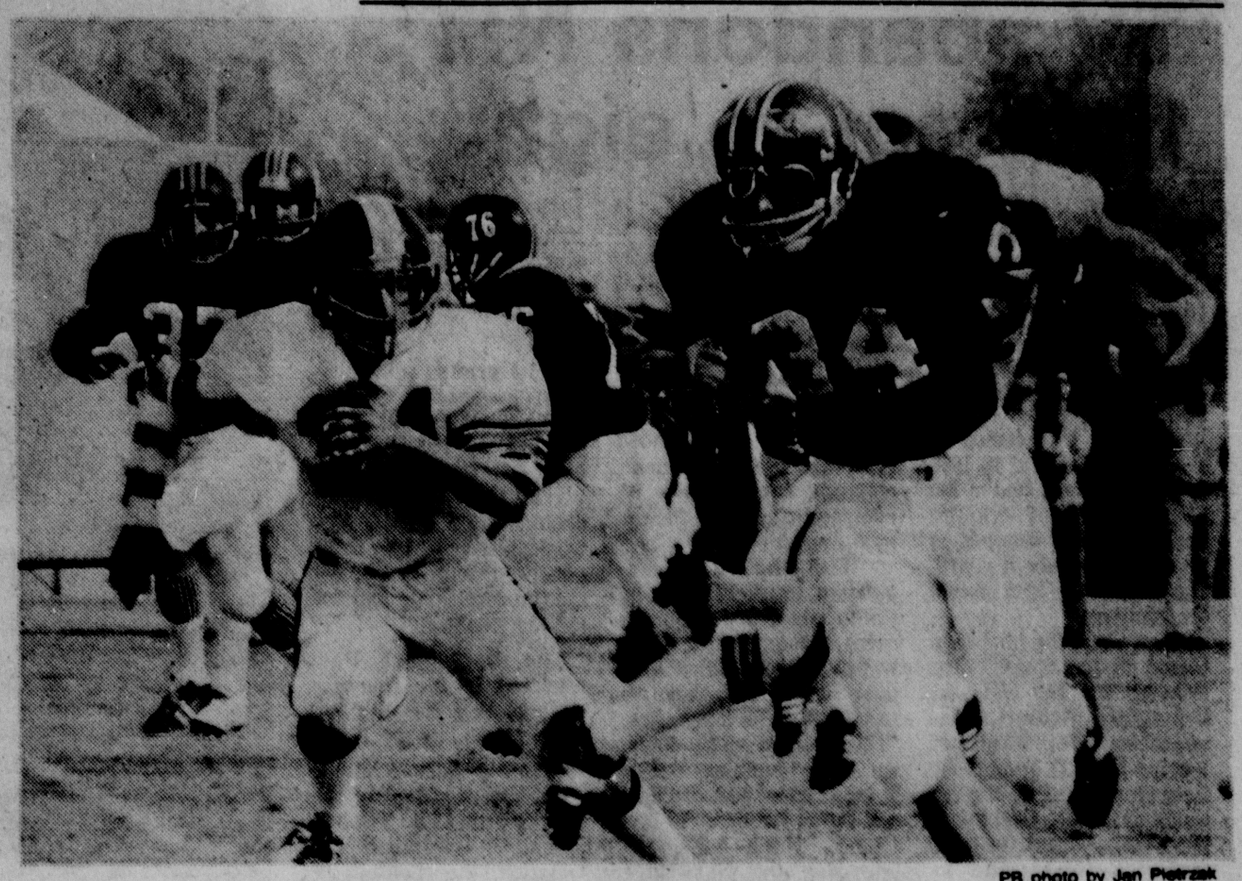

Junior Steve Coulter is the tallest Saint on the squad at 6-foot-3, while Roger Jones along with Shepherd and Hanson are the only seniors. Without a lot of experience and a big man, the Saints still could be a year or so away from the Hacienda title.

Another team which is short on experience and height is Ontario. The Jaguars under coach Larry Larson compiled a 5-18 mark last season but Larson figures he can improve on that mark this year.

Junior Mickey Donaldson is one Jag to watch, as he could develop into one of the top players in the league. Also expected to see plenty of action for Ontario are seniors Freddy Vigil and Rick Wood, two of only three seniors on the Jaguar roster.

Ontario lost in its opener this week to Mountain View, but the Jaguars will be making their home debut tonight against Montclair in an 8 p.m. tipoff with high hopes for a win.

Of the other three H.L. teams, Royal Oak is expected to be the toughest since the Romans have most of their varsity performers back. Gladstone and Sierra Vista were hit hard by graduation.

Claremont wins

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Correspondent

Claremont High took advantage of a shorthanded Azusa team to score an easy 66-48 victory over the visiting Aztecs Thursday night in the basektball season opener for both squads.

"I thought we played pretty well tonight," said Wolfpack coach Jack Smith after the game. "I like our hustle on defense."

Claremont was indeed at its best when Azusa had the basektball. The 'Pack stole the ball ten times and forced 25 Aztec turnovers in all.

Starting guards Dave Birgante and Chris Clark were especially aggressive on defense for Claremont, and played a part in many of the 13 traveling violations called against Azusa. Birgante came up with four steals and Clark added one, while forward Rob Fossum swiped the ball three times.

The 'Pack also blocked four shots, with center Eric Britton stopping two Aztec tries.

"We're still green in spots," said Smith, "but I think our hustle on defense might help iron out some of our problems on offense. "We looked good, but then Azusa was minus three starters."

Rich Nyden, Leonard Pedroza and Bill Wile — three Aztecs who will start once they join the basketball squad — are still involved in football. Undefeated Azusa will meet El Dorado tonight in a CIF 2A football quarterfinal game.

Claremont made the most of height advantage Thursday night, outrebounding the visitors, 45-28. As a result, the 'Pack got off 64 shots from the floor to just 38 for Azusa.

The hosts made good on 30 field goal tries (44 per cent), while the Aztecs hit on 14 (37 per cent). After making nine of 16 shots in the first half, Azusa fell to five of 22 in the second half.

Clark, with 15 points, led the 'Pack in scoring and tied Anthony Green of Azusa for game honors. The Claremont guard hit on five of six long jumpers in the first quarter to help his team build a 21-10 lead after one period.

Fossum scored 13 points, making him the only other Claremont player in double figures.

"We tried to get a look at everybody tonight," said Smith, and he did just that. All 13 members of the 'Pack played and 10 of them scored.

Fossum and Green tied for the lead in rebounds with 11. The Claremont forward grabbed all his in the second half.

It was Fossum who got the 'Pack going with a bank shot two minutes into the game, after Azusa took a 4-0 lead. Claremont then zoomed off to a 15-4 advantage and led by 11 after the first quarter.

Azusa took advantage of Smith's substituting to draw as close as five points during the second period, but the 'Pack led, 33-26, at halftime.

Claremont's lead grew to 14 points, 46-32, midway through the third quarter, and varied between nine and 17 of rest of the way.

The hosts were guilty of 21 turnovers and 27 fouls. The Aztecs outscored the 'Pack from the foul line, 20-6.

Claremont will open the Upland-Montclair Tournament against Northview Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. at Upland's gymnasium.

Owls nab tourney victory

Citrus College opened play in its own Don Edwards Memorial Basketball Tournament Thursday night by whipping the Cal State Fullerton J.V. team 73-68.

In other tourney results, it was Cerritos 90, East L.A. 82, Cypress 54, Barstow 52 and Grossmont 75, Pasadena CC 73. Citrus will play Cypress tonight at 9 p.m. in second round action. Tourney finals are slated for Saturday night.

In other junior college basketball games tonight and Saturday, Mt. San Antonio College (3-0) returns to action at San Bernardino. The Mounties visit old rival Chaffey Saturday. Chaffey (0-3) hosts L.A. Southwest tonight. Those games are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Forward Paul Walls paced the way for the Owls Thursday night, as he scored 28 points. Fellow forward Sukie Melgoza added 19 for the winners.

Leo gridders on NAIA team

Curtis Frick, Roy VanderKallen and Casey O'Gorman from La Verne College have been voted to the first-team on the NAIA All-District football team by the area coaches.

It marks the first time Frick and VanderKallen have been so honored. O'Gorman made it two years ago as a sophomore although he did not repeat last year despite increasing his tackles and interceptions by a sizeably margin.

The 5-10, 175-pound O'Gorman did not make All-SCIAC as a sophomore but did make it this year. It was a pre-season goal of his to make both this year which he did.

Claremont-Mudd placed two players on the first team, tackle Bob Mennis and linebacker Reggie Cox.

Pomona-Pitzer is represented by middle guard Scott Borg. The Sagehens' fine sophomore running back, Levi Henry, earned second-team honors.

Redlands, co-champion with La Verne in the SCIAC, had four players on the first team and three on the second.

La Verne had two players, center Roger Hanawalt and defensive tackle Grant Seiler on the second team.

District champion Cal Lutheran dominated the All-District team. The Kingsmen, who meet Texas Lutheran for the National Championship Saturday, placed seven players on the first team and six on the second.

Defensive tackle Charles McShane of CLC was named Player of the year and coach Bob Shoupe was named Coach of the Year.

be another team with the height to give Garey a good game.

The rest of coach Jack Smith's tentative starting lineup shapes up as follows: Forward Tom McDonald (a 6-foot-2 senior) and guards Dave Brigante and Chris Clark (both 5-foot-9 and both seniors).

Chino is yet another team which could surprise as the season wears on. Coach Bob Elder's Cowboys have a fine shooter and ball handler in junior guard Joe Pickens and two experienced forwards in Mark Smith and Jim Love.

Biggest drawback to the Cowboys' cage hopes is their lack of height. Biggest man in the Chino squad is 6-foot-3 senior Jeff Scott, the team's center.

Chino opened impressively this week with a 67-63 win on the road at Temple City. The Cowboys will make their 1975-76 home debut Saturday night at 8 p.m. South Hills will provide the opposition.

Ganesha has been about the only SAL team to break up Garey's dominance of the league in recent years, and the Giants figure to be a team which will improve as the season progresses.

Coach Gary Fulkerson's troops suffered through a rough debut earlier this week in dropping a 77-62 game to Charter Oak, but Fulkerson acknowledges that his squad is young and behind most of the other local teams at this point.

Ganesha does have some impressive talent. Sophomore George Hawthorne figures to be awesome in a couple years, and he's not too bad right now. The 6-foot-8 transfer from Los Angeles accounted for 26 points against Charter Oak in that opening loss.

Veterans George Terry and Ken Dudley should add firepower, quickness and experience to the Giant lineup, as Fulkerson's squad consists of only four seniors.

The Giants will try again for win number one tonight at South Gate in a 4:45 p.m. contest.

Upland, Montclair and Pomona figure to be among the also-rans of the SAL, although the Devils under new coach Curtis Donaldson might surprise as the season progresses.

Donaldson's team will open the hoop season tonight at Duarte (8 p.m.), with returning starters James Knight and Jim Middleton and newcomers Charles Cole and Ricky Williams figuring to be the key Devil personnel.

Upland has a big center in 6-foot-7½ senior Dave Holgate and an experienced guard in Gary Carr. But the rest of the Highlander lineup consists of underclassmen who figure to be overmatched against the top SAL entries.

Coach Paul Trautwein's Scots open tonight at Alta Loma in an 8 p.m. contest.

Montclair suffered through a rough opener in absorbing a 86-56 loss at the hands of Alta Loma this week, but the Cavs have a veteran coach in Landon Moore and the team figures to get better.

Moore has two effective scorers and playmakers in Ron Candeleria and Steve Hossler, both seniors. But his team lacks both height and experience, meaning its going to be tough for the Cavs to improve on last year's 7-17 season ledger.

Montclair will be back in action tonight at Ontario in an 8 p.m. tipoff.

Stags, Leopards fall in tourney

Both Claremont-Mudd and La Verne colleges opened play in the Redlands Basketball Tournament Thursday afternoon with losses.

Claremont-Mudd was bested by Azusa Pacific 73-58 while La Verne lost to Biola 67-62.

Both teams will continue play in the tourney in the consolation bracket this afternoon. The Stags' game will be at 2:30 p.m. against the loser of Thursday's Cal Baptist-Pacific Christian contest. The Leos will be in action at 4 p.m. against the loser of Thursday's L.A. Baptist-Redlands tilt.

The finals of the eight team tourney are set for Saturday.

La Verne made a contest of it against Biola, as the Eagles led by a slim 63-62 margin late in the final half. However, Biola took advantage of a couple Leo personal fouls at that point to sink four straight free throws and ice the win.

The Leopards never led in the game but the contest was tied on several occasions. Hot shooting from the floor by Biola made the difference, as the Eagles canned 30 of 50 shots from the floor. La Verne made 23 of 48 from the field. The Leos made 16 of 24 free throws to only seven of 12 for Biola, but the Eagles had those four big charity tosses at the close of the game.

Leo forward Dwight Washington led all scorers with 24 points, while center Jim Worthy led Biola with 16. The loss drops La Verne's season record to 1-2.

C-M made a late run at APC in its contest Thursday, closing to within five points at 61-56 with about four minutes left in the game. However, the Cougars outscored the Stags 12-2 down the stretch to nail down the triumph.

Guard Johnny Daniels led the Stags scoring with 17 points. APC's Bill Lukhard topped all scorers with 22.

The loss came in C-M's basketball debut for this season. APC is now 1-1 on the year.

'Pack booters open tonight

Some of the finest high school soccer in the state will be featured tonight as Claremont's Wolfpack hosts San Gabriel High in a pre-season game at Pomona College's Alumni Field.

The action starts at 6:00 with the JV game, followed by the varsity game at 7:30. Admission to both contests will be $1.50 for adults and non-ASB card holding students. Visiting ASB card holders and children under 12 will be charged 50 cents, while Claremont ASB holders get in free. Proceeds go to Claremont High School ASB.

Long a highly ranked CIF power, and rated No. 4 in this year's pre-season pool, San Gabriel provides a solid test for a Claremont squad which has reached the CIF semi-finals in each of the last four years.

Claremont's strength lies in All-CIF returnees defenseman Jim VanZee and goalie Casey Roberts. The attack is led by All-CIF co-captain Gregg Kaufman. Claremont is ranked No. 3 in the preseason poll.

An AYSO exhibition game will be played between the junior varisty and varsity games.

Local gridders win honors

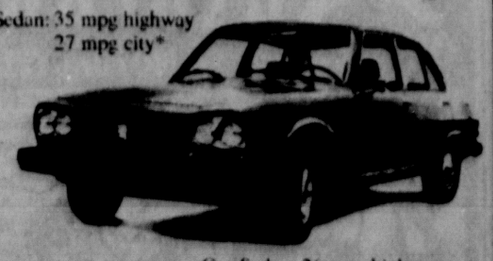

Two Cavalry Baptist High football players have been picked to the All-District team for CIF Christian schools.

The two are Bobby Clark and Chris Pruitt. Both were linebackers this year for Calvary, a La Verne-based high school which plays eight-man football.

Calvary athletic director and coach Chap Sullivan notes that the All-District selections for Clark and Pruitt were especially notable in that neither boy had played tackle football before this season.

TV abandons NIT; field cut to eight

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Invitation Tournament, the nation's oldest major college basketball tourney, has lost its national television contract, and its 16-team field has been reduced, possibly to eight teams.

The NIT, established as a six-team festival in 1938 and which flourished in the boom years of college basketball, has dropped in popularity in recent years, battling the tag of a loser's tournament.

Each year, the blue chip teams in the country are ticketed for the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, leaving the NIT to pick its field from most of the remaining teams. Last year, the NCAA raised its field from 25 to 32 and is reportedly considering a further expansion to 40 teams.

Then there is the two-year-old Commissioner's Tournament for runnersup, which takes the second team from each conference away from the NIT.

The NIT's ratings have dropped and CBS decided to unload the tournament, choosing not to renew its contract to televise the annual March event.

"With the NCAA expanding its field and the Commissioner's Tournament in the picture, we're were suddenly down to a poor field," a spokesman for CBS said Thursday. "Our ratings were down, we were bucking better games and we just couldn't sell it."

CBS, which had been televising the NIT since 1966, said its ratings for the 1975 festival, won by Princeton and which included teams with 13-11 and 15-11 records, were almost half what they were in 1974.

In its printed schedules, Madison Square Garden, landlord for the NIT, has allotted the 1976 tournament four dates in March. With the customary doubleheader cards, that would allow for two dates for the quarter-finals, one for the semifinals and one for the finals.

The New York Post reported in its Thursday editions that the NIT has been pared to an eight-team format.

But the president of the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, the sponsors of the NIT, said Thursday that the possibility of a 10 or 12-team tournament has not been ruled out.

"Madison Square Garden has not closed the door on a fifth date," Pete Carlesimo, Fordham's athletic director, said. "If the field were attractive enough I think we could get that fifth date."

Carlesimo said a 10 or 12-team field also could squeeze its games into a four-day program by playing tripleheaders.

"There are enough good teams in the country for the NIT to have an attractive field," Carlesimo said. "Many times the difference between No. 1 and No. 18 is not very significant."

Carlesimo said he met with Robert Wussler, vice president of CBS sports, and that the decision not to renew the NIT's contract did not rule out the network's televising the 1976 NIT.

"He didn't reject the possibility of picking up the tournament in the future," Carlesimo said, "provided the field was attractive."

Irish, English pugs turn American to fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Christy Elliott is from Ireland and Ronnie Gibbons from England. But they are American fighters—by choice.

They came here to learn their craft and tonight they will demonstrate their progress when they appear in two of four 10-round bouts at Madison Square Garden. So far, they have learned their lessons well enough for a combined pro record of 33 victories and one draw.

Friday night, Elliott will take his 16-0 record against Pedro Soto of New York in a light heavyweight match while Gibbons, 17-0-1, will oppose Fernand Marcotte of Montreal in a welterweight bout. Unbeaten heavyweight Duane Bobick will seek his 33rd straight victory when he meets Randy Neumann of Cliffside Park, N.J., and veteran welterweight Hedgemon Lewis of Los Angeles will fight Harold Weston Jr. of New York in the other 10s.

"The opportunity is here," said Elliott, who had about 190 amateur fights but never fought professionally and had seen only two pro fights before coming to this country from Dublin.

"The Americans are more skillfull," said Gibbons, who comes from Liverpool. "The managers are different. My manager (Gil Clancy) is 100 per cent with me. You almost have to be a champion to get a good manager over there."

Gibbons, who fought only eight times as an amateur, has had all but one of his pro fights here.

Since his arrival here, the 22-year-old Gibbons concentrated on fighting. "That's what it means over here to be a professional," he said. "You fight for your living."

But the 24-year-old Elliott, a former Olympian and a New York Golden Gloves champion in 1973, is married and has two small children. So, he must supplement his income by working as a painter for a New Jersey water company while pursuing his dream of taking "the title back to Ireland."

This year Elliott has won 10 fights, seven by knockout. His last victory was a 10-round decision over Ray Ayala on Nov. 5.

Gibbons, who plans to become a U.S. citizen, has added seven wins to his record this year, four of them by knockout. In his last fight, he outpointed Paplo Rodriguez in eights rounds on Nov. 7.

Bobick, who is managed by former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, has won seven times this year with his last five victories coming by knockout, including a fifth-round kayo of Scrap Iron Johnson on Nov. 13.

Virus strikes thoroughbreds

NEW YORK (AP) — New York thoroughbred racing has been hit by a virus epidemic, but as of Thursday a full slate of nine races was being run at Aqueduct.

"No we haven't had to cut races," Tommy Trotter, racing secretary for the New York Racing Association, said Thursday. "We just hope we can keep going day to day. Every day a trainer comes in to tell you his horses have started to get it."

The virus is not fatal but is extremely contagious and seems to sweep an entire barn once one horse contracts it.

Trotter said "it seems to run its course in eight or 10 days," and he hopes that horses who caught the virus last week will soon be ready to return to action.

He said "it starts with a fever of 102 or 103 degrees." This usually is followed by coughing, loss of appetite, and listlessness.

The conditions seems to be more prevalent at nearby Belmont Park than at Aqueduct. There are 1,200 thoroughbreds stabled at Belmont and just 400 at Aqueduct.

Outbreaks of the virus have been reported recently in Kentucky, Maryland and Florida.

Local girl in net finals

Claremont High's Cathy Claussen will go after the CIF girls' singles tennis crown Monday at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, but to reach that title is not going to be easy for the local girl.

Miss Claussen has been paired against Stacy Henry of Glendale High in the opening match of the day at 8:30 a.m. Monday morning. Miss Henry is the top-seed in the eight-girl field and was CIF runnerup last year in the same singles competition.

The championship finals for singles will begin at 1 p.m. Monday at the L.A. Tennis Club.

The girls' doubles net title will also be decided Monday.

Cal Lutheran up for war of words and nerves

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The head coach of Texas Lutheran's football team says he isn't loooking for sympathy but, "Have you heard of the crippled children's home?

"Well, we look a lot like them," said Dr. Jim Wacker, who added that his team is not in the best of shape for Saturday's national championship battle with Cal Lutheran.

Said Wacker, "We've had 27 major injuries this season and 11 starters won't even make the trip. We're all banged up."

Cal Lutheran Coach Bob Shoup was asked whether Wacker was right. Would the game be a rout?

"Down in Texas things often get exaggerated," said the 43-year-old Shoup. "They think a hangnail is a major injury. Besides, in their opening game, they suited up 97 players. I have to think they've got some depth on that squad."

Just like the big boys, the war of nerves and words had begun.

Saturday's game with a 1 p.m. PST starting time is for the championship of Division II of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. As is the custom with the lower half of the NAIA, it's being held at the home of one of the contestants, in this case the Western winner.

All 4,200 seats at Cal Lutheran are expected to be filled to see a 10-1 Texas team take on an unbeaten Cal Lutheran squad which was 9-1 last year.

The Bulldogs run a Veer-T offense with Mike Washington the versatile trigger.

The 5-10, 170-pound quarterback is averaging 150 yards in total offense per game and he runs the 40-yard dash in a rapid 4.4 seconds.

Bill Wilson, Cal Lutheran's 61, 195-pound senior quarterback, leads the Kingsmen attack. Wilson has completed 93 of 152 passes for 1,354 yards and 14 touchdowns.

The game gives both teams a chance to become the only NAIA Division II team to win the title twice. Cal Lutheran won the crown in 1971. Texas Lutheran scored a 42-0 victory last year over Missouri Valley at Seguin, Tex. to win the 1974 championship.

NCAA probes Vegas recruiting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Investigators of the National Collegiate Athletic Association are trying to wind up their preliminary investigation into possible recruiting violations at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, UNLV athletic director Bill Ireland said Thursday.

Ireland said he had spoken recently with J. H. McMenamin and Dave Burst, both NCAA investigators, who told him the NCAA was trying to wind up the three-year-long preliminary probe.

Ireland said he expected to be notified "within several months" whether an official investigation would be launched which could possibly lead to charges against the school or whether the matter would be dropped.

Ireland said a preliminary investigation was routine and no charges could be filed against a school unless it was notified that an official inquiry was underway.

The NCAA declined specific comment on the probe but it was believed the investigation centered on the school's basketball program under coach Jerry Tarkanian.

Ireland said he has never been advised exactly what the investigators are looking into.

Track camp scheduled

Five American and world record holders, and five other track and field athletes of world ranking, will assume the roll of "teacher" in a special week-long track camp planned for December 26-31.

The camp will be conducted from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. daily at the Mt. San Antonio College Stadium.

"We've called our effort to assist boys and girls of high school age 'The World's Greatest Track and Field Camp' because we think it'll be just that," stated world pole vault record holder (18'5") Steve Smith.

"Never before have Southern California athletes had the opportunity to work with and learn from so many athletes of world caliber," added Smith's fellow teacher, Olympian and world record holder (18'5¾") Bob Seagren.

Additional instructors in the pole vault include 1975 professional champion Buddy Williamson (17'8"), Mike Tully of UCLA (17'6"), Don Baird of Australia (17'9"), and Bob Richards (17'6").

World record holder (7'6½") Dwight Stones will lead the high jump sessions while the man who has thrown the shot put farther than anyone else (75'), Brian Oldfield, will work with the weight events. Unofficial world champion and American AAU champion Steve Powell will teach his specialty — the discus.

Add to that the 1975 women's super star champion and three time Olympic Gold Medal winner — Wyonia Tyos and world ranked decathlete (8000 pts) Mike Hill.

MSAC's Coach Don Ruh will be assisting in the total program and is the man to contact for required advanced registration.

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to learn one or several events from some of the best athletes in the world," Ruh said. "We're excited these star athletes will be at MSAC in this one-of-a-kind teaching effort to help young athletes improve their track and field skills."

Senior Greg Schneider of Rock Island, Ill., captains the Air Force Academy basketball team.

Ishimatsu defends title with KO win

TOKYO (AP) — Guts Ishimatsu's "phantom punch" clubbed Alvaro Rojas to the canvas in the 14th round Thursday night as the World Boxing Council lightweight champion successfully defended his crown for the fifth straight time.

Ishimatsu, 27, of Japan was leading on the cards of all three officials when he smashed his game Costa Rican challenger with a powerful right from close range in the 14th. The sudden punch caught Rojas squarely in the head, knocking him over backward.

A dazed Rojas tried to get back on his feet but couldn't get vertical in time and was counted out at 2 minutes 59 seconds of the 14th round.

The knockout was Ishimatsu's 17th and raised the champion's record to 31-11-6. Ishimatsu, who weighed 135 pounds for this fight, had won the title from Mexico's Rodolfo Gonzalez with an eighth-round knockout in Tokyo on April 11, 1974.

Ishimatsu said he landed a barrage of lefts in the 14th round but "I swung my right blow without knowing what I was doing."

For the 135-pound Rojas, 27 and the No. 8 WBC contender, his record dropped to 42-7.

After 13 rounds, the officials had given Ishimatsu a decided edge. Referee Yusaku Yoshida scored it 128-124, judge Takeo Ugo saw it 127-125 and judge Takeshi Shimakawa had it 128-121. The Associated Press had Ishimatsu leading 127-126.

New Orleans lineman loses job, walks out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Defensive end Joe Owens has walked out of the New Orleans Saints training camp after failing to land a starting spot for Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Rams, officials said.

"The coaches expected him to come back yesterday afternoon but he didn't," a spokesman said. "Two coaches have talked to him since he left and they now feel he'll be back sometime today."

Owens, in his sixth year in the National Football League, is considered the Saints' top pass rusher. But he was bumped from the lineup because the coaches felt he was weak at stopping the run.

When Andy Dorris, who has been starting at defensive end, was injured Owens expected to get the nod for a starting assignment against the Rams.

Instead, the Saints decided to move tackle Bob Pollard to the outside slot. That's when Owens balked.

"Joe isn't the type to complain openly," the spokesman said. "He obviously felt he had been done an injustice."

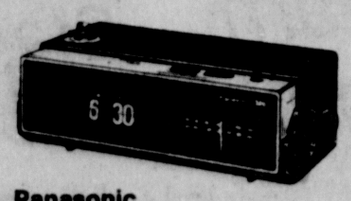

If Owens fails to return the Saints will face the tough Rams with only four healthy defensive linemen.

DOWN TO THE WIRE — Quarter horses like these will be racing for $2-million in cash during the 59-day racing meeting at Los Alamitos, beginning Saturday afternoon.

Quarter horses run at Los Al

Veteran jockey Robert Adair will be seeking his 1,000th career riding victory at Los Alamitos when the 1975-76 Horsemen's Quarter Horse Racing Assn. winter meeting gets underway at the Orange County Track Saturday afternoon.

Adair, the winningest jockey in Los Alamitos history, comes into the winter season with 990 career wins at the Southland track, needing only 10 more victories to reach yet another riding milestone. The eight-time Los Alamitos riding champion will be defending his HQHRA jockey title, a crown he has won each of the preceding three winter seasons.

The 59-date winter meeting will offer a unique day-night schedule this season. As always, the first 2½ weeks of the meeting will be run days on a Tuesday through Sunday schedule. Beginning Christmas night, the meeting shifts to the day-night program, with day racing conducted each Monday and Tuesday and night racing held each Wednesday through Sunday until Feb. 12. All afternoon racing begins with first post at 12:45; the night racing gets underway with a first post time of 7:45.

Saturday's opening day feature is the $20,000-added Inaugural Stakes, a 350-yard dash expected to bring out a full field of the finest older quarter horses in the nation.

Among probable entries for the Inaugural is Lanty's Jet, the 1973 Golden State Futurity and Kindergarten Stakes champion. If Lanty's Jet gets the nod for the season opening feature, Adair is expected to be at the reins.

Other probable Inaugural starters include Pass Over, Flight 109, She's Precious, Wanta Go and Maskeo Lad. In all more than 1,000 quarter horses are on hand to compete for the more than $2 million in purses.

Best time of year for clamming is upon us

Looking for a way to fight the annual Thanksgiving to New Year's Day increase in your waistline?

Try clamming, suggests the Department of Fish and Game. You don't have to be an expert to dig your limit, and the sun and the moon get together each year during December and the first few days of January to produce the best series of low tides — a requirement for successful clam digging — of the entire year.

Clams, whether steamed, baked, deveiled, roasted, served with linguini or chopped up for chowder are considered by many holiday season gourmets to be among nature's tastiest offerings. Not only are they high in vitamins and other nutritional assets, they are lower in calories than many of the foods served on holiday season menus.

Furthermore, the exercise involved in digging a limit of Pismos, gapers or littlenecks will help offset the hours of inactivity you may be spending in front of your television set during the football bowl game season.

The requirements for clam digging are few, the DFG points out. You'll need a fishing license, some information about low tides, a digging tool of some sort to help you find the clams, a measuring device and an hour or so of spare time.

Fishing licenses and copies of the regulations on sizes and limits are available at most sporting goods stores and bait shops, and many of these places also will sell or rent digging tools and measuuring devices.

Tables showing when the low tides occur usually can be obtained from bait shops along the coast, and many newspapers publish information about tides on their sports pages.

To help you choose a likely location for your clamming trip the DFG has published a series of ocean fishing maps which give the locations of good clamming areas along the coast.

Single copies of the following maps are available without charge: Orange and San Diego Counties; Los Angeles County; Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties; San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties; Sonoma and Marin Counties; Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino Counties. Send your request, along with a large, letter-size, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ocean Fishing Map, Box 2475, Long Beach, CA 90801. Send a separate envelope for each map desired.

To help you plan ahead, here are tables showing the times of the best clamming tides in the next few weeks. Times in nearby areas can vary as much as 30 or 40 minutes, but it's not necessary to wait for the exact low tide to find your clams. Good clam digging can usually be found up to an hour before or after the lowest tide.

Legal clamming hours are from 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset. So if you're clamming in the late afternoon, remember to stop one half hour after sundown. Only tides reaching their lowest point during legal clamming hours are shown.

Air Force senior tight end John Covington of Fullerton, Calif., also competes on the Falcon track team as a shot putter during the indoor season and as a discus tosser outdoors.

Stars join softball loop

WHITTIER — The Southern California Stars, a men's professional fast-pitch softball team, has officially joined the newly organized American Professional Softball Inc.

Jim Robbins, public relations director, said the Stars will use York Field in Whittier as their home field for the 1976 season.

League play is expected to get underway in April of 1976 and run through September. A world series of professional softball will follow the regular season.

Abalone overlimit costs trio $625

Three Wilmington men are $625 apiece poorer today because a municipal court judge went the limit on an overlimit of 760 black abalones.

Pedro M. Garcia, 29, Pelayo-Estanilao Ramirez, 54, and Juan G. Moreno, 44, were cited on Nov. 2 at Palos Verdes Peninsula by Fish and Game marine wardens Donald Jacobs and Reed Smith. They had in their possession at the time 760 black abalones out of the shell. None of the three had a fishing license.

If they had possessed licenses, each man could have taken five black abalones in the shell.

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

JOLLY OLD ENGLAND is represented in Upland in the form of a new eating house and pub called Oliver's. Here Bill Westwood, proprietor of the place, (in vest) welcomes thirsty travelers to restaurant at 1869 W. Foothill.

SUE MODEREGER welcomes customers to the new Greene's North in Claremont. The new deli is located at 1025 West Foothill in the Stater Bros. Shopping Center.

LA VERNE'S ANSWER to many fine Los Angeles beef and steak restaurants is O'Hara House, located at 1520 White Ave. The people who make it go are, (L. to R.) owners Dick and Rosalie Lawler and Chef Virgil Smith (whose Cheesecake recipe appears this week in Chef's Choice.) The O'Hara menu features choice beef surrounded by entrees like Half Spring Chicken, Eastern White Veal Cutlets, Veal Cordon Bleu, Yankee Pot-Roast Of Angus Beef, and Beef Eater Royal Mushrooms. There's also a selection of seafoods like Stuffed Lobsters, Sauteed Filet of Dover Sole, or Fantail Guaymas Shrimps.

wandering with woody

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

Here we go hurtling into a Christmas season packed with frenzied activity. And, this week at least, there's a rash of restaurant openings in the Valley featuring some new faces in frantic races and some old faces in familiar places. But I'd like to stop the world for a moment and cast a wistful look back at Thanksgiving Day, 1975, to reflect a bit.

The day was pleasant for me . . . but BRIEF! . . . like the Super Chief going through Conway, Kansas . . . "there it . . . WAS! Gordon Morris and crew at Bit 'O Sweden in Pomona hosted 700 patrons at their Thanksgiving Day Smorgasbord and, according to other restaurant people I've talked with, it seems that many Californians are shifting their Turkey Day eating patterns from Grandma's to Griswold's . . . or Orlando's . . . or Sycamore Inn . . . or . . Hope yours was rich, wherever you were.

And now to the present . . . and a word from Tom Spiel, owner of that new McDonald's we've watched grow beside the San Bernardino Freeway at the Ganesha exit. "We're moving fast," said Tom, "and expect to be open for business Thursday (yesterday)." Tom's store will feature McDonald's own answer to What The World Needs Now . . . Big Macs, Quarter Pounders, Fries and Shakes, Egg McMuffins, etc. The new place also follows a recent re-design in McDonald's architecture with inside seating for 96 persons. The interior design creates a Portuguese Villa theme which includes green tiles, hanging plants, and walls with a weathered white adobe appearance. The large 52-space parking area affords access to Murchison Ave. (parallel to Freeway on South side) through two driveways. Tom also owns McDonald's restaurants in Chino, Riverside and Duarte. (Did you know, by the way, that the McDonald's idea started in San Bernardino with two stores in the early '50s? They now have close to 4,000 stores in all fifty states and in many nations worldwide.)

Meanwhile, down in Chino, Martin Arrachea is hurrying to complete his new Basque Restaurant. He hopes to have it open early next week. Called Pyrenees French & Basque Restaurant, the new business will feature the preparations of Chef Albert Garispe in semi-family style service. Prices seem as reasonable as the food promises to be. Martin, long in business in Chino, was "evicted" from his D street location by the Chino Civic Center Complex, and wants to give his former customers a new place to congregate . . . soon.

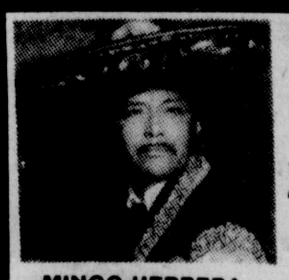

And this week I want to welcome a couple of new kids to the block. Cal and Millie Molina are the new owners of La Placita at 131 E. 3rd in Pomona (across Garey from PB). The Molinas, down from Fresno, took over management of the downtown Mexican cafe last Monday.

Where-to-go-and-what-to-do time is approaching as I write this . . . the WEEKEND! Now, wherever it is, I know that part of the weekend will be spent close to music. (Papa Bill's was fun last Saturday night). But this week, I guess I'll play my age and slow it down a little in deference to my birthday (today, in fact!) So, for music sweet and slow ala Glen Miller, The Dorseys, etc., I think of Pomona's own Johnny Catron, car dealer by day and music merchant by night.

I've known John for some years and I think he really has something neat going for him. This guy does what he likes to make his dough, and does what he loves to make him happy! "25 Years of Swing" with the big band sound of Johnny Catron and his orchestra is available to residents of the Valley every Saturday night. Johnny's band has played the Hollywood Palladium and The Casino at Catalina Island, to be sure, but we don't have to travel that far to hear him. Catron brings the Miller music to life each weekend in Glendora at the Timbers, his own club.

Music has been in John Catron's bones all his life. Since he was seven years old, all he's wanted to do was be a musician. He worked at it, too, playing in several touring groups as a youngster. But after a stint in the service and seeing the decline of the big band era after WWII, he decided he'd better do something else to make a living. He started selling cars, and had worked his way into a Hillman-Minx dealership in Pomona in the early '50s when he literally got the BUG. He started a Volkswagen dealership that's become today's Catron Motors at 800 E. Holt, but along the way he didn't neglect music. Music is alive in him and for many years now Johnny Catron and His Orchestra have kept the big band sounds of the '40s alive. The Timbers is located at 1920 E. Alosta, Glendora (Lone Hill exit.) The music starts at 9:00 Saturdays.

. . . You're invited to help celebrate the boss' birthday next Tuesday, Dec. 9, at Candlelite Inn. Dave Bakes, owner (and fellow Sagittarian), is giving a free drink with each dinner served in honor of the occasion.

Since 1960 the meter has been measured according to the wavelength of the orange-red light given off by a gas called krypton 86.

If you ask a scientist how long a meter is, he'll say it is 1,650,763.73 wavelengths of krypton.

In much simpler terms, the meter is a little longer than a yard; it is about 39-1/3 inches long. It is the basic unit for length, as well as the chief building block of the metric system. The metric system takes its name, "metric," from the meter.

The meter is divided into 10 equal parts and each of those into 10 still-smaller parts, and so on.

Units larger than a meter are 10 meters, 100 meters, 1,000 meters, etc. The metric system is like our money system.

Think of a dollar as a meter. Then a dime equals 1/10th of a meter, a penny equals 1/100th of a meter, and 1/10th of a cent (a mill) equals 1/1000th of a meter. Going the other way, a $10 bill equals 10 meters, and so on. (CONTINUED:)

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

SOLDIERS ON PARADE — The March of the Toy Soldiers from Walt Disney's "Babes in Toyland" is a traditional feature of the holiday program at Disneyland. The wooden soldiers will march down Main Street, U.S.A., daily from Dec. 13 to 31. The troop is part of the amusement park's daily pageant, "America on Parade," saluting the Bicentennial.

'Our American Freeway of Life'

Colleges plan original play

The Four Colleges Players of Claremont will present "Our American Freeway of Life," an original play by Pitzer College student Glenda Raikes, in the Strut and Fret Theater, Scripps College, at 8 p.m. Thursday through Dec. 14.

"Freeway," Miss Raikes' third work to be staged by the Four Colleges Players, brings historical characters to the stage to preach that American freedom is the right to consume goods and travel, that government and corporate interests are supreme, and that the trivial should be emphasized and bad news eliminated.

"Freeway" follows the style of Miss Raikes' earlier "Nobody's Birthday" and "Everywoman" in its unusual use of lighting and costuming. Those two long one-act plays earned glowing reviews from the Los Angeles press. Jim Moore of the Los Angeles Times termed Miss Raikes "a substantial new playwright" in his review of "Birthday," and Suzon Forscey of the Herald-Examiner called "Everywoman" "pungent and inventive."

Members of the cast of "Freeway" are Sharilyn Stewart, Manifest Destiny; Jim Harnegal, Patrick Howdy; David Kronick, Jefferson and Larry Schulman, Hamilton. The ensemble that portrays a variety of characters through imaginative costume changes is made up of Kris Schuman, Terry Miller, Peter Acosta, Liza Dozier and Emily Rothrock.

Miss Raikes a resident of Pasaena, is directing her two-act play under the general supervision of Jesse Swan, professor of drama. Bruce Bidlack is creating special illusions with the lighting, and Perry Jamieson and Stan Ransom of the drama staff, are designing the freeway-type sets. Jackie Gabrielson is stage manager, and Jim Klessig is in charge of sound design.

"Our American Freeway of Life" is entered in the American College Theater Festival.

Tickets, $1 for students, $2 for adults, will be available at the door. Reservations may be made by calling 626-8511, Ext. 2974.

FUN AND GAMES — Jim Harnagel romps with Sharrie Stewart in "Our American Freeway of Life." Glenda Raikes' original two-act play will be staged by the Four Colleges Players of Claremont in the Strut and Fret Theater, Scripps College, at 8 p.m. Thursday through Dec. 14.

The largest "Old Master" is "Il Paradiso" painted between 1587 and 1590 by Jacopo Robuston, alias Tintoretto, and his son Domenico.

Cinema offers 2 rock films

Two films for rock fans will be screened at Cinema I and II at the Montclair Plaza at midnight tonight and Saturday. Tickets are $2.

The movies are "Jimi Plays Berkeley," starring Jimi Hendrix, and Neil Young's new film, "Journey Through the Past," with Crosby, Stills & Nash, the Buffalo Springfield, and Young.

Also on the program is a short film featuring Cheech & Chong and Basketball Jones.

The double feature is presented by Sunshine Productions of Santa Barbara.

A calorie is the amount of heat required to raise one gram of water one degree centigrade.

Ballet troupe set for Citrus

The Golden State Ballet of Covina will present "Christmas Fantasy" in the Citrus College Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The ballets to be performed will be "Les Patineurs" (The Skaters), "The Jewels," excerpts from "The Nutcracker" and the premiere of a new ballet, "Noel." Marilia Walsh-Scott, artistic director and choreographer of Golden State Ballet, has arranged for the children in the audience to come backstage and meet Santa Claus after the performance.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office of the auditorium daily from 1 to 4 p.m., or on the day of the performance. Tickets for groups requesting special discounts may be obtained by telephoning (213) 358-9386 or (213) 331-6818.

Golden State Ballet is a non-profit, non-sectarian, educational corporation dedicated to the promotion of ballet as an art, providing an opportunity for talented dancers to be trained and to perform in a professional atmosphere.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY

RESOLVED, that it is in the judgment of this Commission, advisable to sell that real property belonging to the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program of San Bernardino County, hereinafter described, and this Commission hereby declares its intention to sell the same at a minimum price of $49,000.00 and the total purchase price shall be payable at the close of a thirty day escrow following the award or acceptance of the bid.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, that not less than three (3) weeks from the date hereof, to wit: on the 17th day of December, 1975, a public meeting of the Commission of said Baldy View Regional Occupational Program of San Bernardino County will be held at its regular place of meeting at the Administration Office, 141 South Spring Street, Claremont, California at 4:30 p.m., at which meeting sealed proposals to purchase the said real property will be received and considered.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, and found by this Commission that the real property hereinafter discussed, or any portion of it, is not now and will not at the time of delivery of title or possession be longer needed for school classroom buildings or for public use of the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program of San Bernardino County.

The real property intended to be sold pursuant to this Notice is described as all that certain real property situated in the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to wit: Lot 21, Tract 23225, Recorded in Map Book 621, Pages 39 and 40 of the Los Angeles County Recorder's Office with a new and unused four bedroom Spanish style home located thereon. The above described real property is more commonly referred to as 1522 Deventer, La Verne, California.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, that the aforementioned lot and house situated thereon be sold for a minimum of $49,000.00 net to the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program and that no real estate commission be paid from the $49,000.00. Any price above $52,000.00 will have a 6% real estate commission allowable to a licensed real estate broker. No commission shall be paid unless there is contained in or with the sealed proposal or stated in or with the oral bid, which is finally accepted, the name of the licensed real estate broker to whom it is paid, and the amount or rate thereof. Said commission shall however, be paid only out of money received by the Commission from the sale of the property.

Brief history of the toy industry

Toymaking in this country dates back to the 17th and 18th centuries, when that classic American figure, the whittler, spent many of his relatively few leisure hours carving toys for his children. His skilled hand produced dolls, tops, balls and toy animals and, on occasion, more complicated objects like rocking horses and doll cradles.

Several of these Yankee craftsmen, or their sons or grandsons, were among the first to establish toy factories in the early 19th century, when the Industrial Revolution took hold in the United States. Published accounts are unclear as to the name of the very first company to produce individual playthings in quantity. The earliest on record appears to be that owned by Asa Crandall, of Covington, Pa...who began fabricating wooden toys in 1820. Many more Crandalls (in two branches of the family) were closely identified with toys throughout the 1800s and into the 1900s, according to that excellent book, "Toys in America," written by Inez and Marshall McClintock and published in 1961 by Public Affairs Press, Washington, DC.

In the middle decades of the 19th century, woodworking concerns like Asa Crandall's and the Tower Toy Company of South Hingham, Mass., specialized in such products as doll houses and doll furniture, juvenile tool chests, jumping jacks, croquet sets, wagons, sleds, alphabet blocks, stilts, construction sets, and trains. Other manufacturers of the period worked with tinplate (pails, pull-toys, spring windups); rubber (balls, animals, dollheads); pewter (tea sets); cast iron (stoves, quoits, penknives, banks, cap pistols); steel (sleds and ice-skates); brass (bell-ring toys for preschoolers); iron-plus-wood (velocipedes); paper (playing cards, games, paper dolls).

Considerable expansion occurred between 1880 and 1900 when the number of toymakers increased threefold to about 500. Volume at the turn of the century, at manufacturers' prices, was estimated to be $4 million; retail toy sales were figured to be about $20 million, with imports accounting for a third of the total. By 1912, the retail figure had jumped to $30 million — $18 million in U.S.-made merchandise, $12 million in imports.

American - produced playthings sold especially heavily when World War I resulted in a near-100 per cent cutoff of imports. The boom lasted until 1920, when Germany made a strenuous effort to re-enter and dominate the U.S. market by flooding this country with well-made toys at extremely low prices.

In reaction, a delegation representing Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. (a trade association founded in 1916 and today known as Toy Manufacturers of America, Inc.) traveled to Washington and convinced Federal legislators of the need for a higher protective tariff. Imposition of the new duties, which became effective in 1922, signaled a major turning point in the history of the industry. It meant survival for a collection of relatively small business concerns, it enabled them to flourish thereafter, and it paved the way for new toy companies to form and prosper.

In the years that followed, the industry's rate of growth varied with the times — tremendous expansion in the late 1920s; steady progress in the 30's (despite the Depression); a flattening out during World War II (because of severe material shortages); and then a burgeoning in the late 40's that has continued, with rarely as interruption, right up to the present.

By 1955, for example, manufacturers' sales had reached $502 million, with the volume shared by about 1,400 concerns. Over the next 19 years, sales rose more than 500 per cent, to $3.01 billion, although a trend to concentration had reduced the number of toymakers to about 900.

During the 50s and 60s and into the 70s, toy industry sales rose at a faster annual rate than such economic indices as gross national product and consumer disposable income. Among the factors cited to explain the industry's impressive growth in those years have been the following: a generally affluent society; a high birthrate for much of the period; steadily increasing parental awareness of the significance of playthings in child development; the emergence of new forms of mass retailing; the advent of toy advertising on television; improved technology, particularly in plastics; and the introduction of several new categories of highly saleable toys and games, all of them stemming from toymakers' ever stronger emphasis on research and development.

Poll shows most feel need for conservation

NEW YORK (AP) — A 90-5 per cent majority of the American people feel the United States "will have to find ways to cut back on the amount of things we consume and waste," according to a Harris survey.

The poll of 1,497 adults showed that a 61-23 per cent majority believe it is morally wrong for this nation, with only 6 per cent of the world's population, to consume 40 per cent of the energy and raw materials.

A 55-30 per cent majority feel this disparity "hurts the wellbeing of the rest of the world" while a 50-31 plurality fear that American consumption of world resources "will turn the rest of the people of the world against us."

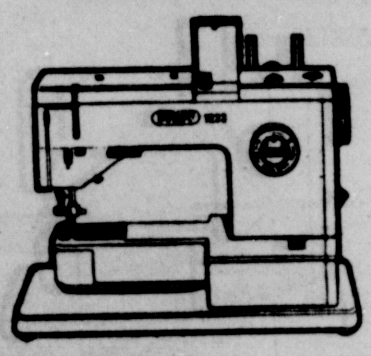

"There is little doubt on the public's mind that cutbacks are needed to curb wasteful consumption," the pollster said Monday. "Close to two out of every three people believe such cutbacks would mean major or minor cuts in the American standard of living."

A microwave oven is fast

What modern home-maker wouldn't welcome the addition of a time-saving appliance to her kitchen? And especially so during the busy holiday season.

One of the greatest time-savers to come on the kitchen scene in years is the countertop microwave oven. Microwave cooking is fast and convenient, preparing just about anything from snacks to main dishes in only a matter of minutes.

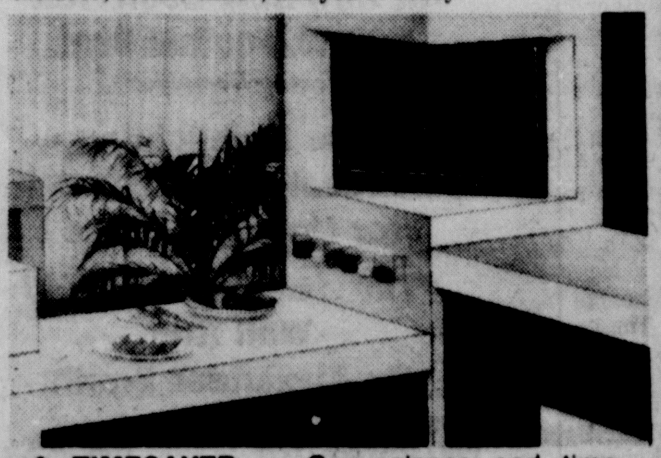

This speed is a major plus for working women or for those who would like to spend less time in the kitchen, particularly during the holidays.

An additional plus has resulted from the increased capacity available in some of these ovens. One new model has 1.3-cubic feet of interior space — big enough to accommodate the largest commonly made glass roasting dish (13" x 9" x 2"), or even a four-quart casserole.

This larger model (on the inside, not on the out-side) also has the convenient "Low/Defrost" setting to thaw solidly frozen foods quickly and evenly. The low power cycle also cooks certain food items better, such as fish, frozen baked products or frozen dinners, which can dry out if cooked too quickly.

To assure that the precise cooking or defrosting time — so important to proper microwave use — can be selected accurately, some models have 25 or 35 minute timers. With the latter, the first five minutes are expanded and marked in 15-second intervals for the large number of recipes and food items which can be prepared in five minutes or less.

Microwave ovens are simple to operate: just load, close the door, set the timer, and you're ready.

A TIMESAVER — Convenience and time-saving cooking are available in microwave ovens. They either can be built in or used on a countertop.

Let the stars be your gift guide

In a quandary when it comes to giving gifts? Let the stars be your guide this season. Astrology might give you some clues as to what certain signs would be apt to enjoy.

Aries, (March 21 - April 20) are home-lovers according to astrologers, so a gift for the home would definitely be in order.

Taureans (April 21 - May 20) enjoy luxurious things, so how about a fine silk tie for him, an expensive perfume for her?

Gemini people (May 21 - June 20) are known for their active minds and would probably appreciate the latest word game.

Moon children are under the sign of Cancer (June 21-July 20) and they enjoy entertaining, making a host or hostess gift most appropriate for them.

Leos (July 21 - August 21) also enjoy entertaining, being very sociable people so gift them with bar accessories.

The Virgo personality (August 22 - September 22) is discriminating, so whatever you give, make sure it's the best.

Libra people (September 23 - October 22) are noted for their love of beauty and the arts . . . perhaps a fine print or classical recording would be the ideal gift for this sign.

Scorpios (October 23 - November 22) have very definite ideas about likes and dislikes; play it safe and give them gift certificates!

Sagittarians (November 23 - December 20) generally like to relax out-of-doors, so camping accessories or fishing equipment might be a good idea.

Capricorn people (December 21 - January 19) are hard workers who may not always take time to relax; encourage them to do so with a good book.

Aquarius people (January 20 - February 18) are often avant-garde types, so gift them with the latest in fashion.

DREAMS FOR SALE? — A child's wonderland is the 3-Ring Circus in G.O.S.H. at 555 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont. The store specializes in doll houses and doll collections. Manager Janet Davidson shows a toy train set, fire trucks and toy cars around a tree.

Give your spouse a belt for Christmas

You're bound to please when you give a new leather belt for Christmas. Leather belts are an important accessory appreciated by both women and men for style, versatility and look of quality.

In women's belts, a rich range of leathers, widths and decorative ideas is represented, reports Leather Industries of America. Leathers making up these new belts cover many finishes: smooth, grained, sueded, harness, waxy, latigo, embossed, real patent and soft glovey leathers.

Narrow leather belts, from ½" to 1¼" in width, will distinctively set off her long sweaters and shirts, as well as dresses. The buckle, a focal point, may be found in metal, enamel, lucite or wood as well as leather. Buckle shapes include the oval, circle, half-circle and rectangle. Braided leather belts are also a charming idea.

For her casual sportswear, she would welcome one of the narrow-width belts in a harness, waxy, brushed or antiqued leather with stitching or touches of hardware.

Wider leather belts are available in widths running from 1½" to 3". These broader belts, which include the ultra-wide cinch, come in smooth, sueded, harness and antiqued leather finishes, and show off buckles of hardware or self-leather. In more relaxed constructions are suede or smooth leather sashes to tie into loose knots. Supple suede and glove leathers are also used in soft-constructed buckled belts with a wide crushed-down look.

A leather belt under his Christmas tree will spruce up any man on your gift list. Handsome leather belts are gifts of fashion that men can wear and appreciate for a long time to come.

Current belt collections for men present many looks for dress, to sporty but tailored, to strictly casual. Among the leathers are smooth, sueded, bridle, grained, embossed and latigo, with some belts using combinations of leather finishes.

For business and dress, he will most likely want a leather belt running ¾" to 1½" in width.

Counsel can't hold other seat

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The counsel for San Diego County says Ron Caylor cannot sit on the county Planning Commission, or for that matter, at any other county position.

Caylor, 22, was ruled "ineligible to hold any county office" Tuesday because he works for San Diego Gas & Electric Co. County counsel Robert Berry said it would create a conflict of interest if he did.

Shopping guide: stereo equipment

If you are planning to purchase a stereo set for your home or as a gift, here are some suggestions to serve as a guide.

Choose a dealer that stocks brand names and models, has good displays, and will allow comparison between different types of sets.

But even before you shop, perhaps you might ask yourself a few questions to help determine what type of system is best for individual needs.

In which room of your home do you plan to use the stereo unit? Where do you plan to put the speakers if you purchase a modular unit? How much furniture do you have?

Do you need a system to play records as well as receive AM/FM/Stereo FM broadcats? Do you want the unit to play 8-track cartridge tapes? Do you want to record and play back your own 8-track cartridge tapes — cassette tapes?

Modular systems usually come in three pieces: a main unit and two separate speaker enclosures. These systems are more flexible in decorating than consoles. They are not tied to one furniture style and can fit easily into large or small rooms according to the owner's needs.

A console stereo unit contributes a furniture piece to the room it occupies. Furniture styles available include: cpmtemporary or modern, early American, Mediterranean, Spanish, Country Frensh and Country English.

Modulars and consoles may be purchased with a minimum number of audio instruments. For example, in a modular start with an AM/FM/Stereo FM receiver and phonograph, and later an 8-track player or player/recorder, cassette tape deck, or even extra speakers for "surround sound" capabilities may be added.

NEWEST THING — The newest in sound equipment is quadriphonic or four-channel sound.

Do unto children as unto yourself

Remember when you were little?

Christmas gifts you treasured most were stuffed animals, bicycles and games. But if you decide to give a child clothing, remember each has his own ideas about dressing. Consider such wishes just as you would grown-ups'.

Chtistmas gift clothes should be special. Kate greenaway, Siebel and Stern and Don's Corner make charming pinafores, dresses and outfits that are current and popular with the younger set.

Little boys, when they're not in jeans, lean towards the clothes from Chips 'n' Twigs. These outfits run from $10 to $50 with most items in between.

If you are not used to shopping for children, you will be astonished at the high prices but with hard searching you can find what you want.

Sweaters for children are as popular as they are for men and women, and there is a wide selection, ranging from $5 to $20.

Depending on location, light attractive pajamas or warmer, cuddlier versions should be in the running. Carter is famous for these with a range from $5 to $12. What about a Stieff bear p.j. bag to put them in? About $30.

Raincoats and umbrellas are great — popular with children who like to go puddle-jumping and delightful for parents 'cause their kids look so cute when dressed and waiting for the rains to come. Umbrellas run from $4 to $8 and raincoats from $12 to $20.

A little girl emulating mommy, might like a tote with her initials for school, about $6.

His favorite gift is a chain saw

If someone on your holiday gift list is too busy to do things the hard way, a labor-saving device may be the solution.

Casey Tibbs, the nine-time national champion rodeo rider who recently taught President Gerald Ford's son, Steve, how to stay with a bucking bronco, is an example of a man who needs to do things the easy way.

Tibbs wears several "hats", all of them the ten-gallon variety.

He is the boss of a working cattle ranch at San Diego Country Estates, a western-flavor recreation and residential community near San Diego, and he finds time for motion picture acting, personal appearances and hosting such luminaries as screen star James Caan and the President's son.

In spite of his fame as a roughrider, Tibbs is no drugstore cowboy. At the ranch, his day starts before sunup and he supervises every phase of the cattle operation.

His favorite recent gift is a chain saw, an example of real labor-saving mechanization.

Casey uses the nine and a half-pound gasoline-powered saw for a variety of purposes, from mass-producing poles for a bronc busting corral to cutting hard oak deadfall for one of his famous weekend barbecues.

"I've got a neighbor on the other side of the hill who thought he had a pretty fast saw," Casey says, "until he got a look at this. Now they're calling me the fastest saw in the west."

Casey's saw was designed for the kind of heavy duty a chain saw meets on ranches or farms anywhere. Its 2.3 cubic inch (38cc) engine spins cutting chain on a 14-inch guide bar.

The chain saw includes a chain brake, which helps reduce hazard from kickback.

Gift planters handy for foods and wines

Which home doesn't have at least one plant that would benefit from the decorator touch of a pretty container? Planters cure the "gee, she has everthing" blues when it comes to gifts and, in case the giftee is allergic to plants and flowers, can also be used for a variety of things.

Certainly shiny, glazed planters make artificial geraniums look more real. Shallow clay planters lined with wax paper can be used for bread and roll servers.

Deep planters lined with aluminum foil make marvelous chillers for white wine, especially for several bottles at once. If you're lucky enough to have a few bottles of Chateau Olivier, for instance, they should be chilled, not semi-frozen in the refrigerator. The soft, full flavor of whites from the Graves area of Bordeaux, using Chateau Olivier as a well-known example, should be savored rather than numbed out of exixtence. For this, according to the leading wine importers Austin, Nichols & Company, the bottles should be turned about in ice mixed with some water. Seal the foil in the planter carefully to avoid drips.

A hanging planter in a bedroom could contain a rainbow shower of chiffon scarves. A bowl-shaped planter in the kitchen might hold real or artificial fruit. Small, crystal - clear flower pots are great for crudites and dips. There's a planter shape to fit every need, even if you don't have a plant.

K.C. police chief warns of terrorists

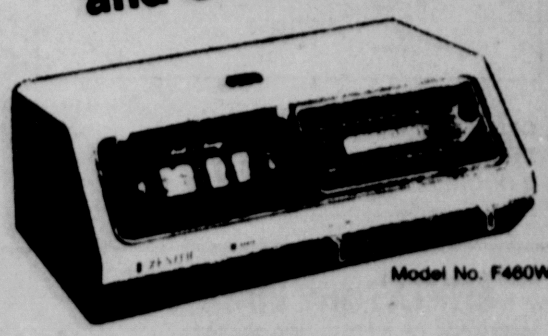

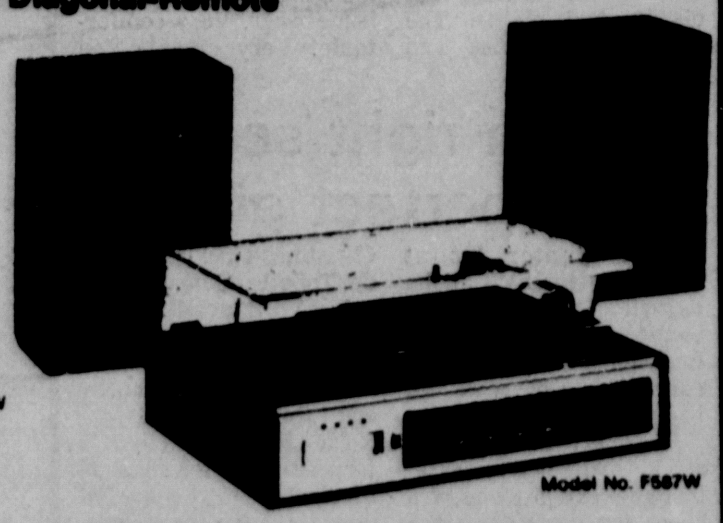

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Police Chief Joseph McNamara says terrorists could infiltrate Kansas City next August because of the 1976 Republican National Convention.

McNamara, addressing a political science honor meeting Wednesday night at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, said he fears the city's "period of tranquility will be coming to an end and that there may be bombings and other tactics similar to those that disrupted political conventions in 1968 and 1972."

What gifts do the men like best?

For the puzzled and potentially panicked holiday shopper looking for some direction, here are some mind-joggers from the Men's Fashion Association.

GROOMING AIDS — The well-dressed man is with it today from the skin out and the host of attractively packaged gift sets of grooming aids do everything from tone the skin to control the hair. They can help him smell as good as he he looks or look better than he really feels.

JEWELRY — Body jewelry for men is very in and so are the more conventional cuff links, tie bars, tie tacs and such, particularly if they carry a theme or symbol that relates to his job or hobby, sport or birthday—you name it.

NECKWEAR — Key your purchases to his tastes. Select from scenic prints and conversational motifs for the contemporary dresser. Traditional is back in style so getting a good selection of classic stripes and neat foulard prints will be easy. Sporting-type ascots and kerchiefs for the neck are swell for wear with open-neck sport shirts, too. Some of the 100% polyesters and Quanas can be cleaned with a swipe of a damp cloth.

SPORT SHIRTS — The contemporary man will absolutely drool over the very colorfui bold prints on the knitted nylons. The traditional fellow will like modestly neat prints as well as the conventional checks and plaids. The younger twentywish and teen-agers will go ape over printed T-shirts embellished with everything from soup cans to rockgroups.

LEATHER GOODS — No size problem here. Choose from attache cases, wallets, passport cases, pocket secretaries, credit cards cases, and luggage as well as cigar and cigarette cases. Most men dote on good leather and that applies to belts, too.

HANDKERCHIEFS — To blow or to show, handkerchiefs are an easy out for the shopper with a little time and small budget. Try initials for his hip pocket and silk squares for his breast pocket.

HOISIERY AND SLIPPERS — Hosiery and slippers are the answer to gifting many men on your list. One size fits-all socks dispense with the size problems, too. If he is amenable to gag socks with a fun message, check out the sublistatic printed socks. If he is a no-nonsense type, stick to plain ribs and neat patterns. Pick from Indian-like moccasins to sophisticated patent leathers in slippers. There are also indoor-outdoor types. You know best what he can use.

PAJAMAS AND ROBES — Once considered "intimate" or unmentionable gifts, but things have changed. In addition to the regular robes and pajamas used for lounging, sleeping or whatever, there are now velour and terry "tops-and-bottoms" sets used for lounging or general at-home wear. Very comfortable. Very smart. You don't know his size? Buy him a kimono-type — one size fits-all. You should also see the very colorful, patterened and s-e-x-y briefs and shirts.

VESTS — Possibly one of the major fashion comebacks of the decade, vests are making it with all kinds of men — young and old, in tune or even slightly out-of-touch with the times. Odd vests are very smart with either business or sportswear.

SWEATERS — The traditional guy will like plain knits in soft colors, crew-necks, V-necks, turtlenecks and cardigans. The man who wants only the latest will dig patterned sweaters which are very big, sweaters sets of matching pullovers and cardigans, and sash-tied wrap-arounds. All very smart and practical for those chilly months. Don't overlook the sweater vests, either.

ACTIVE SPORTSWEAR — Keying gift selections to his favorite sport is very smart. For sportswear or just for loafing out of doors, there are a host of garments ranging from smooth analine leathers (very lightweight) to burly shearlings (very warm), wools that range from hip-length bombers to full-lengths in coat styles, and a host of mid-length suburbans. If your budget can't stand the strain of real leathers, take a look at the poly-vinyl-chlorides — fabulous fakes!

GIFT CERTIFCATES — For garments like sport coats, suits, topcoats, shoes and hats that require exact fitting, the gift certificate is the right ticket. Besides, it gives him the fun of selecting the style he likes best.

Get on right scent for a perfect gift

What greater fun at Christmas for both adults as well as youngsters than to dig through the Christmas stocking for those unexpected goodies we all like to receive.

However, stuffing the stocking with new and original gifts can prove to be a chore for the giver since size and shape, as well as fragility, are such important factors.

One category that should not be overlooked is fragrance in spray form. Many companies provide beautiful and protective containers for sprays because they are usually thrown into a pocketbook or suitcase with little or no thought about breakage.

Givenchy has designed elegant golden serpentine metal cases for two items that are ideal for the Christmas stocking — Eau de Toilette Deluxe Spray and a Perfume Mist Purser. Both are available in the designer's two classic scents: Le De Givenchy and L'Interdit.

The Eau de Toilette's serpentine cylinder stands six inches tall and contains three ounces of fragrance. It may be sprayed on the skin in conjunction with perfume, after a bath, or as an overall refresher. The glimmering, golden case with large "G" embossed on top is a luxurious stocking gift and perfect travel companion for only $15.

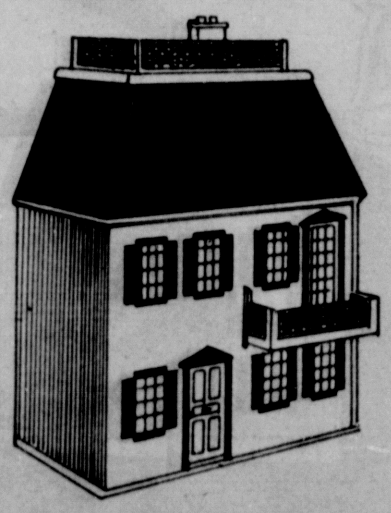

The Perfume Mist Purser, just slightly larger than a lipstick tube, is for quick, fragrant touchups during the day and evening and fits easily anywhere in a purse or pocket.
